P.G.E. Deal to Be Completed Shortly, Sutherland States

Canadian National Railways to Take Over British Columbia Line and Complete It Without Cost to Taxpayers Here, Acting Premier Announces; A. D. Paterson Renominated at Enthusiastic Delta Convention

Vancouver, June 15.—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway will be taken over by the Canadian National Railways shortly and completed without cost to British Columbia, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Railways and Acting Premier, declared in an address at Cloverdale last night.

Dr. Sutherland's announcement about the future of the P. G. E. was the feature of an enthusiastic Liberal convention which renominated A. D. Paterson for Delta. With Dr. Sutherland were two other members of the Government, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Dugald Donaghy, Minister of Finance.

Mr. Paterson, who is Reeve of Delta, was nominated by Reeve Tom Reid of Surrey Municipality, and seconded by Reeve D. Poppy of Langley.

COMMENDS GOVERNMENT

"I have served you for eight years and I have given you my best," declared Mr. Paterson, responding to the expression of confidence.

Mr. Paterson paid tribute to the members of the MacLean Cabinet and the Liberal members of the last Legislature with whom he had worked. Respecting Premier MacLean, he said he was a leader under whom he was proud to serve and he expressed complete confidence that after July 18 Dr. MacLean would again be found at the helm of the British Columbia ship of state. Rebel Tories Summon Delegates; Threatening Slate of Independents

FIFTY FAITHFUL TO FOUR, CHOSEN BY WARD FIVE

Blair Pulls Conservative Meeting Through and Gets Solid Delegation

With E. S. Blair wielding the gavel, Conservatives of Ward Five last night nominated a solid Hayward-Hinchliffe-Twigg-Lyons delegation of fifty to represent the ward at the Conservative nominating convention next Tuesday night.

Ballots with the fifty names, which had been chosen in secret before the meeting, were distributed to each person at the entrance to the Campbell Building. This was done, it was explained by an attendant at the elevator, so that all persons attending would know exactly whom they were supposed to vote for and that there would be "no danger of any unapproved person hording in on the fifty chosen."

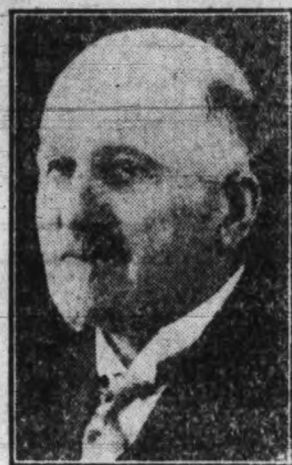

Mr. Blair in opening the meeting at once announced that nominations were in order.

A man in the front of the hall instantly arose and began reading the list of nominees from the ballot. A marker wrote them down on the blackboard as the names were called out beginning with Lorenzo Alexander and Minnie Briggs. (Concluded on page 2)

Lightning Hits Ontario Camp; One Is Killed

North Bay, Ont., June 15.—O. Olson, Norwegian, and a team of horses were instantly killed and twenty-two other men were stunned during a terrific lightning storm which prevailed over the district surrounding Mile 76 on the James Bay extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway on Wednesday evening. Olson was killed while standing under a tree. The horses were in a stable. The other men were distributed through a little excitement. All were members of the McLean Company's construction work engaged in pushing the railway northward to James Bay.

SOON WILL MAKE VISIT TO EUROPE

HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL

Ottawa, June 15.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture of Canada, will sail from Quebec next Wednesday to attend the World Dairy Congress, to be opened in London June 24. Representatives from all the Provincial Governments of Canada will attend.

While in Europe Mr. Motherwell will investigate the co-operative marketing conditions in Denmark, Holland and Sweden.

A report from London that Canadian wheat, especially grade No. 3, is not maintaining its quality also will be looked into by the Minister and if the report is true, possible remedial efforts will be made from the production end.

Conservatives who are determined to alter the Hayward-Hinchliffe-Twigg-Lyons ticket of their party in Victoria moved to-day to effect this result or, failing that, to place an independent slate in the field.

All delegates elected to the Conservative Convention of next Tuesday were summoned by circular letter this morning to meet at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Monday night and hear reasons why all the former members of the Legislature for Victoria should not be renominated. If the men behind this movement are not given a fair hearing, or if the delegates refuse to attend the meeting, then an independent ticket will be nominated. To-day's circular letter announced, it was issued under the authority of the Victoria Conservative reorganization committee and signed by H. R. Brown, as secretary.

With the issuance of this circular, prominent Conservatives behind the movement to alter the former Conservative ticket denied reports that the election of delegates so far had been in favor of the four former Victoria members. A careful check-up of the delegates so far chosen shows that a large proportion of them favor the introduction of new blood into the slate. It was stated. The delegates who favor a change are expected to attend Monday's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce but whether those opposed to this move will attend was not known to-day. (Concluded on page 2)

LITTLE JOE

GEN. NOBILE BELIEVES HIS PARTY SAFE

Commander of Dirigible Italia, Injured, Unable to Reach Land

Rescue Plans Are Hurried at Spitzbergen; Fate of Seven Uncertain

King's Bay, June 15.—In need of equipment to enable them to withstand the rigors of the Arctic until rescued, General Nobile and five other survivors of the Italia were near land to-day, but unable to reach it. The general's injuries and the broken leg of Natale Cecigioni prevented them from leaving the ice floe on which they had been drifting since May 23.

Nobile was optimistic, however. In a message to the base ship Citta di Milano he said he believed his party was in a position of safety. The men were near Brock Island or Poy Island and only a short distance from the mainland. They had drifted to that point since Tuesday night when the marooned men were farther to the Northwest, being ten miles East of Charles II Island.

TO ESTABLISH DEPOTS

In the hope that the three missing men who started afoot for land from the Nobile party might be found, dog-teams were sent out from the sealing ship Hobby to patrol the route the men were to make. The rescue parties were also to establish depots at Cape Flaten, North Cape, Beverly Sound and Dove Bay.

The fate of seven men carried off in the balloon part of the Italian continues uncertain. They were well supplied with provisions unless the balloons were caught by wind and carried off before the supplies were unloaded after the men reached the ice.

REPORT DENIED

Oslo, Norway, June 15.—A report from King's Bay that the sealer Hobby had succeeded in rescuing three members of the crew of the dirigible Italia was described here to-day as sheer nonsense.

The report referred to was not carried by the Canadian Press.

PIANO FACTORY BRINGS PAYROLL

Fifty Employees to Be Placed at Work as Soon as Dallas Hotel Remodelled

Proceeding quietly with plans announced by the city industrial committee some time ago, James Fowler, head of the B.C. Piano Company Ltd., serviced in the city for the Dallas Hotel premises for factory purposes.

Under an agreement with the city whereby the property passes to the piano house at a nominal figure, production will be started here at an early date with a payroll of fifty men in steady employment at the start. This number will be increased later as production picks up. The factory is to turn out musical instruments for the Western provinces and also for the export trade.

IMMEDIATE START

Mr. Fowler spent the morning going over the ground with C. Elwood Watkins, the Victoria architect engaged to prepare the plans for the remodelled structure. Bell, Dominion and Evans plans will be made at the site, as well as other musical instruments, it is planned.

Victoria was well adapted as the site of a western factory for Canadian manufacturing houses, and was particularly well suited in regard to the export trade, Mr. Fowler told members of the city industrial committee on his visit to the coast. Now he is here with the object of securing an immediate start on the installation of the plant for the piano factory.

HIGH COURT TO HEAR APPEAL

Mineral Rights of Hudson's Bay Company at Stake in Canadian Appeal

Montreal, June 15.—To have the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London settle for all time whether the gold and silver in the Hudson's Bay Company's lands belong to that corporation or to the Government of Canada, Hon. W. Craig, K.C., and D. H. Laird, K.C., of Winnipeg, sailed for England from Montreal to-day. This question was referred to the Supreme Court of Canada by the Government of Canada and the decision of the highest court in the Dominion was in favor of the Federal authorities. The Hudson's Bay Company is appealing from that decision. Mr. Laird represents the company.

Transcanada Air Mail Routes Are To Be Surveyed

Ottawa, June 15.—The Department of National Defence will commence its survey of Western Canada air-mail routes within the next few weeks, and the first examination will be made of the course between Toronto and Winnipeg. Little difficulty is expected west of Winnipeg, where there are numerous landing fields.

Air force officials expect that in the general programme of survey laid down for this year, the Toronto-Winnipeg portion of the country will require closest attention, representing, as it does, a number of alternative routes each demanding a different type of machine.

In co-operating with the airman, the Post Office Department will study mail requirements and other factors that enter into the operation of a trans-continental air mail service.

Chicago Police Wound and Capture Two Escaped Convicts in Big Fight

Chicago, June 15.—Charles "Limpy" Cleaver, alleged leader of the recent $133,000 Evergreen Park train robbery, who escaped from the Western Country jail with four others last Sunday, has emerged from his third gun battle with Chicago police seriously wounded but still alive.

Joseph Fortina, Cleaver's companion in the jail break, who was captured with him, probably will die of his wounds. Cleaver may recover. Both men said they wanted to die.

Detective Lieut. Andrew Berry was shot three times, but not seriously wounded. The other three members of the gang are at large.

PREMIER KING SOON TO VISIT THE PRAIRIES

Ottawa, June 15.—The speaking appointments for Premier King in Western Canada are not yet final, though it is known he will leave Ottawa July 28. Mr. King probably will address meetings in Winnipeg and Brandon and possibly some other place in Manitoba. On August 10 the Prime Minister will open the Prince Albert National Park and between that date and August 16 he will visit several places in his Prince Albert constituency. Mr. King will then return direct to Ottawa. He probably will be accompanied by a member of the cabinet.

CHURCH MOVES IN ENGLAND ARE NOT FORESEEN

Observers Unable to Predict Developments Following Prayer Book Rejection

Bishops Meet at Lambeth After Adverse Vote of House of Commons

London, June 15 (Canadian Press Cable).—The archbishops and bishops of the Church of England met to-day at Lambeth Palace, residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, not for an intense discussion concerning their future action, but for quiet prayer and meditation among themselves.

The rejection by the House of Commons late last night of the latest revised Prayer Book by 266 to 220, a majority greater by four than that by which the first revision was turned down last December, was not altogether a surprise when it came. Quite early in the evening the feeling was uppermost in the lobbies of the House of Commons that the new Prayer Book was doomed. It was evident also that the archbishops had already reached this conclusion, for their appeal to the church for patience in the face of the defeat of the measure was issued so soon after the division that it had obviously been prepared in advance. In this the Archbishop of Canterbury and the other bishops stood by the church and pleaded for abstention from such premises.

MAGISTRATE TO BE WITNESS

McGeer Suggests Magistrate H. C. Shaw Testify at Vancouver Police Inquiry

Vancouver, June 15.—Magistrate H. C. Shaw's name was brought into the Vancouver police inquiry evidence at this morning's session when G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher, questioned Chief of Police H. W. Long about the ownership of a disorderly house at 210 Keefer Street.

Mr. McGeer asked the chief if he knew that witness to the shooting of the owner of a house who permitted the premises to be used as a disorderly house after a notice of conviction had been registered against the tenant, became responsible as a keeper.

"I believe he is," replied Chief Long. Mr. McGeer asked the chief if he ever checked up to find who owned such premises.

DOES NOT CHECK UP

"I never check up on the owners," replied the chief.

"I'm afraid, chief," said Mr. McGeer, "that you do not check up on anything."

"Would it surprise you to learn, chief," asked Mr. McGeer, "that this property is owned by the Lefurgey Estate, of which Magistrate Shaw is executor?"

"I would be surprised," declared the chief.

A. H. McNeill, K.C., commission counsel, said he did not believe the subject of Magistrate Shaw should be left as it was. He had some personal knowledge of the Lefurgey Estate and knew the brother of the deceased was in town and in all probability was handling the renting of the property. Magistrate Shaw, as an executor, would in all probability have nothing to do with that.

CREMATORIUM DRAWS FIRE

Right Rev. Bishop O'Donnell Describes Process as "Pagan Pyre-burning"

Ross Bay Cemetery Dedicated to Use as Burial Ground Only, It Is Claimed

An announcement by Alderman E. S. Woodward that the proposed crematorium for Victoria would be placed in Ross Bay Cemetery, if permission could be secured for the use of that location, has drawn a sharp protest from the Right Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Bishop of Vancouver Island, who on behalf of the Roman Catholics of the diocese, has filed a letter with the Mayor and council. The letter is couched in the following terms:

"The undersigned, the proprietor of a large section of Ross Bay Cemetery, wishes to 'prize' himself and the Catholics of the city whom he represents, on record in opposition to the proposed desecration of our cemetery by the erection within its precincts of an incinerator for the pagan pyre-burning of Christian remains.

"When we bought our section of Ross Bay Cemetery we thought and I think that we bought a part of a burial ground, and not part of a burning ground.

"Should this matter be carried to a conclusion by the advocates of burning the dead, you will understand why we will make use of every legal means to defeat their purpose."

The communication was signed in the name of the Bishop of Vancouver Island, and addressed to the Mayor and City Council.

The communication followed discussion before the last session of the council when Alderman Woodward asked that body to go on record as favoring the choice of a site in the Anglican plot at Ross Bay for the proposed crematorium. The council declined to pass the resolution requested, but tabled the issue for a week. The subject will be brought up again at the next regular meeting of the council to be held on Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

LOWDEN WITHDREW

Ex-Governor Lowden of Illinois, Hoover's nearest competitor in strength assembled before the convention assembled, withdrew entirely at the last minute, saying he would not care to be a candidate on the farm relief plank adopted by the convention.

Mr. Hoover stands on a platform promising farm relief without mention of the equalization fee and pledging strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment. A fighting farm bloc bid for endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill was rejected almost three to one earlier yesterday and a motion to modify the enforcement plank was shouted down without record of vote.

VALENTINE SERVICE, Victoria, B.C. Cor. East and Quadra Streets

"Hey, what's this? What's the idea?" came voices from various parts of the hall, in which there were nearly 150 persons seated.

There was yelling from a number of women and a man who had been pulled out of the hall by the police.

"Why should one person nominate the fifty we are supposed to choose here to-night?" said one man. "He's started to read out that whole list on the ballot."

Two women at the side of the hall jumped up.

"NO POLITICAL RING"

"I don't want any political ring to be pulled off on me," said the one woman who got started first.

The other did not get a chance to speak out loudly, but she nodded her head and declared that her companion had said the right thing, and she herself felt just the way she did about it.

"Is no one else going to be allowed to nominate anyone here?" This came from a deep-voiced man, who was able to make himself heard above the crowd of others trying to speak.

"Mr. Chairman, one man, one vote," were cries from parts of the hall.

"I don't want any four men to fix things so that we have no choice but to vote for them," said one man in the back of the hall.

A little man in the centre of the hall, who had been pulled out of the hall by the police, then regained control of the meeting, and the man who had started to read off the list of fifty names and was still standing, prepared to go on with his work.

Several persons jumped up to move that each person could place only one name in nomination.

"Why not allow any person to nominate ten, as that will save time," another suggested.

It simmered down to a motion, being put to provide for one man, one nomination. An amendment was then put to make it one man, ten nominations.

The amendment was voted on first, and the chairman said the count hands declared the one-ten amendment carried.

TWO HANDS UP

"I strongly object," cried a man at the back of the hall. "Some of them put up two hands."

"That's right," came a voice from the other side of the room. "Some of them over here were also voting that way with two hands."

"Make 'em stand up," one of the audience suggested.

"Sure, that's the only way, then they can only vote once," said another.

So Chairman Blair ordered a standing vote.

Scrutineers announced that the one-ten element had won by 59 or so to 38. Many in the hall did not vote.

The man who had pulled up at the front of the hall arose and read out a few more names from his list to make up his ten.

The instant he had exhausted his quota, a man nearby was singing out the names of the next ten on the list. He was followed by a third, who read out another ten names. Then a fourth man with ten and a fifth.

A number of other names were individually placed in nomination and written on the blackboard along with the names of the approved fifty.

Attendees distributed printed voting forms and the writing out of the names of the fifty started.

DOORS LOCKED

All the doors of the hall on the top floor of the Campbell Building had been locked during the proceedings, and attendants said that no one was allowed out until after the voting.

One man came to the door and said he felt sick and had to get out.

Another came and said he could not wait to write out the list of fifty names.

Why should we send picked delegates anyhow? "It should be an open convention."

The secretary who had charge of the key to the doors was finally found and he allowed the three or four men to pass out. Then he locked the doors again.

"You are giving The Times a chance for a fine story here this evening," one man in the centre of the hall shouted out.

The Ward Five delegates were chosen as follows in accordance with the prepared list handed to the voters at the door as they entered:

Lorenzo Alexander, Minnie Briggs, E. S. Blair, R. L. Buller, A. S. Burgess, Mrs. J. S. Brown, Harry Cobb, Al Coopman, W. H. Cullen, A. J. Dalain, Harry Davies, James Dickson, J. Dorrell, G. J. Vancouver, June 15.—W. C. The selection of Mr. Shelly to head the Vancouver Conservative ticket is said by Conservatives to be a precedent. Mr. Shelly formerly was president of the Vancouver Rotary Club and has been closely associated with various organizations for the improvement of social conditions.

Party in Victoria," Mr. Jones said.

"To that request I have given very serious consideration, but regret exceedingly that the business and private interests to which I must devote my full time, compel me to decline the honor."

"That regret is somewhat tempered by the knowledge that there will be no lack of candidates, well qualified to support the Government, whose wise business administration during the difficult period of the last twelve years has placed our Province in the front rank of progress and financial standing."

"I feel sure that the result of the election of July 18 will show that the electorate of this Province fully realize that the continuation of the present prosperity and industrial development and the solution of our most difficult problems—particularly the question of the disposal of the P.G. & E. Railway—depend upon the return to power of the present Government."

REBEL TORIES SUMMON DELEGATES; THREATENING STATE OF INDEPENDENTS

MEMBERS INVITED

The invitation to Monday's meeting was sent to every delegate elected to the Conservative Convention, and the meeting will be open to delegates and newspaper representatives only. Rosina Hayward, Joshua Hinchliffe, J. D. Twigg and Major Gus Lyons, former M.P.P.s, were asked to attend and speak. A strong group of speakers would address the meeting on reasons why the former four city members should not be re-nominated in the coming election. It added the blunt threat that if the delegates did not attend the meeting, or if they failed to give a fair hearing to the speakers, an independent ticket would be nominated to contest the Victoria seats.

MAY BE SECRET

Meanwhile a fight over the conduct of Tuesday's nominating convention has developed. A strong group is anxious to have the convention held in secret, with newspaper men barred, but it is doubtful that it will be able to secure endorsement for this proposal, as other Conservatives are equally determined to let the public know what goes on at the gathering.

The circular letter reads as follows:

"In order that delegates may have an opportunity to consider the merits of candidates who will be nominated at the convention on Tuesday, this committee will hold a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on Monday, June 18, at 8 p.m."

"The object of this meeting is to secure unity before the nomination convention and to prevent independent Conservatives from running and thereby giving the Victoria seats to Liberals."

"The four Victoria members are offered half an hour each to address the meeting. Candidates for nomination who have been selected by this committee and other candidates who are already in the field will speak."

"This committee desires some Conservatives who are now considering the prospect of running as Independents may be deterred from doing so if there is a good show of sportsmanship and to give every speaker a fair hearing. Only delegates will be admitted. Please present this letter at the door to secure admission."

"Yours truly,"

H. R. BROWN,

Acting secretary for Reorganization Committee."

STEADY DEBT RETIREMENT

City Plans to Reduce Debt
This Year By $204,590

Debt retirement plans for the city for this year include the retirement of a total of $204,590 of civic debt, it was stated by Edwin C. Smith, city treasurer, to-day. The city met the first debentures maturing on this account in February, when an issue of $20,000 was retired.

The balance, which will mature between July 1 and December 31, include $100,000 on local improvement account; $18,000 under the Johnson Street bridge by-laws; and $86,590 for local improvement ordinary loans and sundry loans.

The levy for debt charges in Victoria has now passed its peak and year by year there will be less money required for this purpose in the annual budget, explained Mr. Smith to-day.

With the exception of industrial guarantees which would call for payment only in the event of a collapse of these enterprises, no new loans or commitments have been floated by the city in the last few years.

CHURCH AND STATE

BY A VOTE OF 266 TO 220 THE BRITISH
House of Commons again has rejected the revised Prayer Book of the Church of England. When it dealt with the matter last December the vote was 247 to 205. It thus will be seen that the majority last night was slightly larger than it was on the previous occasion.

Observers intimately interested in the fate of the revision several times have expressed the view that as the change made since the first defeat of the proposal is comparatively slight, the House of Commons should not have been called upon to consider it so soon after its rejection in December. The Daily News says the attempt to reverse the verdict so soon was "a fatal mistake" and brings disestablishment nearer.

The principal division of view is on the question of reservation of the sacrament. Opponents of the revised Book contend that this would inevitably lead to adoration of the consecrated elements and, in consequence, give entrance to the Roman Catholic doctrine of transubstantiation. Advocates of revision, on the other hand, refute this suggestion and declare that the reservation of the consecrated bread and wine would be permitted only for the benefit of the sick; they are emphatic in the statement that the safeguard against adoration is adequate.

This is the theological phase of the question. It is not surprising that "high" and "low" elements—now better known as the Anglo-Catholics and the Evangelicals—of the Church of England should differ on this important point. But the anomalous feature of the whole controversy is the obligation which Parliament is obliged to discharge. The House of Commons is composed of members belonging to many religious faiths. The member for North Battersea, for instance, Mr. Saklatvala, is a Mohammedan. There also are several Hebrews. As between the Non-conformists and the Anglicans, however, the division would be comparatively equal, with the adherents of the Established Church, perhaps, a little in the majority. There is then a considerable following of the Roman Catholic Church. To this element and both "high" and "low" elements of the Anglican Church, of course, the issue is of vital concern. It affects the rest only insofar as they are interested in their own conception of religious liberty. But as members of Parliament they must exercise their vote and regard the whole matter not as a religious issue at all, but as a constitutional or political question.

Impartial observers naturally will see in this second rejection another step towards the disestablishment of the Church from the State, distant though such a departure may be, while it may be assumed that there will be a continued tendency on the part of such dignitaries of the Church as the Bishop of Birmingham to adopt an attitude at times which seems to challenge the authority of their leaders. Premier Baldwin, for instance, said the rejection of the Book "would weaken the hands of all those in authority for a long time."

In the meantime, the House of Bishops has met, not, as to-day's dispatch says, for an intense discussion concerning future action, but for quiet prayer and meditation. Upon what future action will be taken it is not possible to speculate.

MR. HOOVER NOMINATED

MR. HOOVER'S NOMINATION BY THE Republican Party at Kansas City last night was a foregone conclusion from the opening of the convention. It also was certain from the first that only one ballot would be needed to determine the party's choice. Although but 545 votes were necessary to win the nomination, Mr. Hoover polled 837 out of a total of 1089. Only Kansas, which gave its entire twenty-three to Senator Curtis, and Indiana, whose thirty-three went solidly to Senator Watson, stayed out of the Hoover column, the delegates of the remaining forty-six states either going to Hoover completely or being divided among the various candidates. This is the first time since 1896, with the exception of those occasions on which Presidents were unanimously nominated for second terms, when a single ballot has been sufficient to decide the nomination. At the convention in 1920 many ballots were taken in the close fight between Governor Lowden and General Wood, neither being able to poll a majority of the votes, with the result that Senator Harding was chosen as a compromise candidate.

Undoubtedly the Republicans have chosen their strongest man as their standard-bearer. Mr. Hoover, who is an engineer by profession and who as such has operated in many parts of the world, is a very able administrator and a man of unusual force of character. It is no secret that the big financial interests would have preferred Mr. Coolidge, whom they could control, or some other Eastern man with whom they have been in closer association than they would likely be with Mr. Hoover. The Republican candidate is favorably known abroad through his direction of the relief work in Belgium during the war, and he has a wider international outlook than most of the other leaders of his party.

In many ways Mr. Hoover will be stronger in the campaign than his party, which has lost considerable support through its association with oil scandals, while its attitude to farm relief and the unemployment situation have confronted it with so many difficulties that its leaders realized that to win the election they would have to select as their candidate a man of exceptional qualifications. Even the party's platform as drafted yesterday is a casual affair, consisting mainly of vague generalities, which indicates that the party managers decided that a platform would not be much of a factor in any case and that they must hitch their wagon to an outstanding candidate. This means that if the Republicans win the election they must do so on the strength of the prestige and reputation of Mr. Hoover.

BUSINESS THRIVES ON ADVERTISING

IS IT NOT A FACT THAT ANY PRIVATE business hoping to succeed never neglects advertising? If advertising is good business for private business, it is good business for the Government which is conducting the biggest business in British Columbia.

This is Hon. W. H. Sutherland's sensible explanation why the MacLean Government has spent the insignificant sum of three thousand dollars on a booklet which shows how British Columbia has progressed in the last ten years. What is more, the beneficial effect of this publicity, he declared in an address on the Mainland last night, would be reflected in still more generous bids from the bond markets for British Columbia's securities.

Opposition speakers never miss an opportunity of telling the people that this Province ought to keep more of its population. Yet when the Government spends three thousand dollars in order to prove to the investor and the manufacturer that this Province abounds in profitable opportunities, they immediately see in it some sinister motive which provokes their wrath.

As Dr. Sutherland infers, the merchant who does not advertise can not expect to do as much business as the merchant who always has his wares before the public. Surely our opposition friends will not suggest that the Province of British Columbia should hide its light under a bushel as if it had nothing to be proud of.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION TO CANADA

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO BRITISH
Columbia was Premier King's statement in the House of Commons just before prorogation in respect of immigration from Japan. It now has been agreed between the Government at Ottawa and the Government at Tokyo that no more than 150 Japanese shall enter Canada in any one year.

Under the original or "gentlemen's" agreement of 1907, the total number of immigrants from Japan was set at 400. This afterwards was modified and the figure of 150 agreed upon; but under that arrangement it was permissible to bring in wives and children, which meant that the original number of 400 was being greatly exceeded each year. Under the new agreement, however, the total of all classes of Japanese immigrants must not exceed 150 in any one year. This will include agricultural laborers, domestic servants and wives and children of Japanese already resident in Canada.

The announcement of a new agreement indicates that the King Government has been able to adjust the matter without disturbing the friendly relations between Canada and Japan.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NOT ONE REAL AIRPORT
From The Ottawa Citizen

"Duke" Schiller, back in Canada from New York where he has been given as the first airman to reach the Star about his experiences there and his future. He says that many frantic requests are being made for his services from New York. But he is not going to join the southward exodus. "This is the country in which to fly," he said, adding that he will soon be back again with the Canadian Transcontinental Airways.

"This is the country to fly in." Of course it is. It is on the threshold of an era that will demand the services of young and enterprising men, and especially young and enterprising women. But what are the towns and the cities of Canada doing to prepare the way for the flying that is only just beginning? Practically nothing. They are asleep as the switch compared with American, German, French and British municipalities.

Not a solitary modern airport can be found between Halifax and Victoria. But let "Duke" Schiller speak. In the same interview he said:

We haven't a real airport in the whole country, while in the United States there are little towns no larger than Port Credit that have four flying fields. Here, every time you land you take a chance, and it is practically impossible to do so by night.

When will the civic fathers in Canada wake up and rise to their obligations in this matter? We boast about our exports, our automobiles, our railways, our business and our future, and yet we have not one real airport in the whole country to point to. If something is not done, and done soon, to meet the new conditions, Canada can rest itself to a back seat in the aviation world. And for a country with aviators second to none, such a position would be ridiculous and humiliating.

INITIAL NO TRUMP BIDS

At times difficulty is experienced in determining whether to bid a no-trump or a suit. The best distribution of cards for a no-trump is 4-3-3-3. We have determined that if the hand contains a blank suit, a singleton or a worthless doubleton, it is inadvisable to bid a no-trump. A major suit (spades or hearts) always should be given preference to a no-trump when holding a sound bid in the major suit. A no-trump should be given preference to a minor suit.

In the light of the foregoing, let us examine the following illustrations with a view of determining whether to bid a suit or a no-trump:

Spades—X X X; hearts—A K X X; diamonds—X X X; clubs—A K X X. Only two suits are stopped. Bid one heart.

Spades—K J X; hearts—A X X; diamonds—K Q X; clubs—X X X X. Three suits stopped. Count 20 points. Bid one no-trump.

Spades—A K J X; hearts—A X X X; diamonds—K Q X X; clubs—K. Three suits stopped. Count 21 points. Singleton in clubs. Bid one spade.

Spades—A K J X; hearts—A K X; diamonds—A K X X; clubs—none. Three suits stopped. Count 27 points. Blank in clubs. Bid one spade.

Spades—X X X; hearts—A Q X; diamonds—A K; clubs—A K Q X X. Three suits stopped. Strong club suit. Count 35 points. Bid one no-trump instead of minor suit.

Spades—A K J X; hearts—A X X; diamonds—A K X X; clubs—A X X. All suits stopped. An account of singleton A, give preference to major suit (with 80 honors). Bid one spade.

In bridge, the word "never" is taboo. The proper expression to be used is "hardly ever." The exception to the rule that to bid a no-trump only when you have three suits stopped is found in the hands containing four quick tricks maced in two suits, but offering no sound suit bid.

PAVING WORK DECIDED UPON

Oak Bay Passes By-law For Construction on Laburnum Gardens

Paving of the street known as Laburnum Gardens under the local improvement plan was authorized by the Oak Bay Council in a by-law passed at the regular meeting last night. The work will get under way shortly.

Two requests for street improvement work were considered by the council last night. Hampshire Road, according to the complaint of H. Langley, needed attention at a place fronting on his property and this was referred to the engineer for action. A dangerous hole on Cavendish Avenue, brought to the council's notice by J. F. Waddington, will be eliminated by the extension of a surface drain there.

The council was notified by J. Vaughan, Roberts of his consent to act on the Jubilee Hospital Board this year.

A request of the Oaklands Parent-teacher Association for the use of Wilfrid Park for a picnic on June 25 was granted.

Improved mail service in several sections of the municipality from which complaints have been received, may be expected shortly, according to a communication from the postmaster considered last night. The complainants will be notified that action has been taken.

Six trees on Byron Street, which are annoyances to residents of the street will be removed. It was decided, following consideration of a petition of fourteen of the residents.

WHEN THE CIRCUS SPECIAL UNLOADS ITS PASSENGERS

Clamp—clump—down to solid ground from his many-times reinforced ear steps, Jumbo, the champ of champs when it comes to consuming peanuts.

Old Dobbin hasn't very many strongholds left to him nowadays, but he still is a circus fixture. The circus simply couldn't get along without him. Here are some of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey horses waiting for drivers.

No sooner is Goliath, the sea elephant, off the train than he begins growling for his breakfast. He eats 400 pounds of fish a day, and will take more if pressed.

Which strange creatures in the menagerie are first to catch the kiddies' eyes? The zebras, of course. Presumably that's because they're so like a stick of candy!

POSTULATES, DUST AND BLOOD

To the Editor:—Pertinax states Koch's postulates "for my benefit," insinuating without a shadow of excuse, that I do not know what they are.

Regarding the first one, Löffler is cited as not finding the diphtheria germ in one-fourth of his cases. Of course not; one-fourth of his cases were acute follicular tonsillitis, which up to that time was confused with diphtheria. Ask any doctor.

The germ should not be found apart from the disease. Strange to say, this is not found among Koch's postulates as given in "The Microscope," by Hogg (p. 369). This is a non-controversial work and free from suspicion of bias. Have the postulates been garbled by Lawson Tait? I will show later how untrustworthy he is. Koch knew of Pasteur's injecting virulent germs into immunized animals and producing no disease. His own work aimed at making human beings resistant to tuberculosis germs when infected. How then could he say, "The germ should not," etc.?

As to the variability of germs, in many cases the miracle is bogus. A culture of visible germs, through faulty technique, often contains unnoticed spores of another species, which develop to full size and are taken to be a new form of the other. In many other cases the miracle is genuine. The changes of form are even more complicated, but no more lawless than those in the well-known series, egg-caterpillar-butterfly, or egg-tadpole-frog. The supposed chaos and confusion are imaginary. Even if one per cent. of pathogenic bacteria were quite baffling in their transformations, that is merely a problem to be worked out in future, and it is no reason for rejecting the enormous amount of precise and ordered knowledge already acquired about the rest. "I am unable (such are the limitations of my intellect) to see the ninety-nine per cent. less important than the one per cent."

The instance given (pneumococcus producing not pneumonia but septicaemia in the rabbit) is an example of a phenomenon not unique, but rare. Such a result, when not spurious as it is in cases where the culture was impure, is due to different degrees of resistance of different species, or of different tissues in the same species. But almost universally the inoculated animal if not wholly resistant reproduces the same disease. The same nine and one per cent. applies here also.

"Scientists have not yet supplied their proofs of the germ-theory and no one is obliged to accept a mere theory." This misleading and sacred formula of the A. V.'s cannot be properly characterized in parliamentary language. They might honestly say, "We are aware that great masses of evidence and many arguments have been submitted, but we believe the evidence to be defective or misinterpreted, and the arguments unsound," but this would entail an examination of the evidence, instead of parroting forth their dogma and occasionally putting forward some isolated exception as an example of a universal law. It is poor business to suggest that the dirt theory may have no connection with the A. V. movement. They had to have it as an alternative to the germ-theory. To clinch the matter, read Hadwen's words of wisdom in Mr. Green's letter (Times, May 26). Pertinax next tries to suggest that it is really a chemical theory, possibly hoping to steal the thunder of his opponents, for toxins are definite chemical substances. My two opponents adroitly change my phrase "a ten-thousandth of a grain into a small quantity," and "a minute quantity," and having thus completely sterilized it, they win an easy victory. (See my letter in The Times, May 30). I pause to record my shuddering admiration for the dexterity and cool assurance with which these tricks, so often exposed, so often repeated, are played. In Bishop W. M. Brown's book, "My Horses," he comments on the attitude of his assailants. I have to quote from memory. "They were honestly crooked; they sincerely believed it would not be right to go straight."

I am shamelessly ignorant of Bechamp, the advocate of the theory that "germs increase to combat" disease. Whether modern or not, he belongs in spirit to the years before 1850, for this idea that the germs are there "for a purpose" in a human sense, is right in line with poor old Paley's argument from design.

I am not impressed with Collis's arguments. To prove that dust, which is chaotic, variable, not specific, will act like arsenic, definite chemical, would take "a bit of dust," and if he cannot conclusively trace the connection between the dust and the distant kidneys, he is arguing "post hoc, ergo propter hoc." I wonder that Pertinax is not shocked at Collis's experimenting in this way. How many yellow dogs did he torture? Or was it merely human beings who don't matter?

Bright's disease is now attributed to the destructive local effect of the toxin of the streptococcus, which can reach the kidneys, and does destroy tissues. I need not repeat my exposure of the A. V.'s as "respecters of persons" in their crusade against animal suffering. I accept gratefully Pertinax's admission that animals are not "totally different" from man, and hope that his confessions will stop peddling this error. The evidence quoted from Starling and others is correct, but boring, for experimenters the world over are all the time noting the differences, that is, when they are not noting identities.

The squabble about Harvey was none of my seeking. I mentioned him in the most cursory way to point a gibe at the A. V.'s and expose their nonsense about "totally different." They dodged the real point and dragged me into this discussion. Still, I am quite happy to go through with it. Pertinax need not pretend that he merely claimed Harvey did not establish his doctrine by vivisection. Three lines after saying that, he added, "He could not establish his theory, however, and it was not until the microscope was used that his theories were proved correct." Now after that who will say I was harsh in my comments on A. V. methods of argument? Did Harvey's vivisections only "mysteriously" read his book (Everyman's Library), especially pages 22, 24, 25, 26, 42, 62, 65 and 66. These passages, I submit, are wholly convincing to any reasonable person with a smattering of anatomy. McIlwain and Tait, who say that the only difference between the arteries of a dead body and seeing it return by the veins are simply declaring war on common sense and reason. By this method they could prove out of the five or six points that Harvey had to prove to his contemporaries, only one point, namely, that there was some communication between the ends of the arteries and the veins. They could not even prove by that method whether the blood flowed from arteries to veins, or vice versa. I get Lawson Tait's measure from this as I never got it before. Further, if Tait was right, what becomes of the proof by the microscope referred to by Pertinax? Is that another "only way"? The quotation from Boyle which was to crush me turns out to be entirely in my favor. The important expressions are, "what . . . induced him to think of a circulation," and "was incited to imagine" (that the valves were for a purpose). Both point to what started him on his investigation, not to the decisive experiments and arguments which settled the matter. I welcome the quotation from Dr. Willis. It is nearly the whole truth. . . .

Inference or induction only, not a sensible demonstration. Harvey made one essential point after another plain to the senses, and only one he failed to demonstrate. But is an induction not enough? Who has seen the earth rotate and revolve? Yet these motions have been proved, "by inference or induction only."

The quotation from Bernard Shaw, though short, contains two examples of question-begging, and one bold exaggeration. The brief reference to Dr. Leffingwell leaves me rather in a daze, which may be due to my notorious ignorance, but he seems to be confusing the unjustifiable experiments of a certain type of animal psychologist with surgical operations on animals.

After changing my phrase "minor quantity" into "minor quality," Pertinax offers me the choice of being either a crook or an ignoramus. I will not return in kind, for I readily believe that the injustice was not intentional, but a pure blunder.

SHOULD NOT HAVE IT

To the Editor: An effort is being made to force the Federal Government to "do something" for the iron and steel industry. Those who are behind the movement appear to realize that public opinion is the only force that can compel action along this line, and are deliberately endeavoring to create a public opinion favorable to their demands. Special articles are appearing in many papers throughout the country, emphasizing the importance of this industry and telling the people that it is being ruined by floods of foreign imports, and that the tariff policy of the present government has had the effect of assisting other industries at the expense of iron and steel.

In considering this industry, it is well to remember that iron and steel enter so largely into the production of other commodities, that one of the first indications of expanding industry is an increased demand for these products; and that to increase artificially their prices, by means of the tariff, is the surest way to handicap industry in general.

But their argument in regard to this particular industry is not convincing. A study of the trade returns for the past six years shows imports and exports of pigs, ingots, blooms and billets, as follows:

Year Ending	Imports	Exports
March 31, 1922	$ 929,370	$ 623,919
March 31, 1923	1,785,485	1,785,485
March 31, 1924	2,462,219	2,065,966
March 31, 1925	1,797,536	1,318,358
March 31, 1926	1,466,112	1,167,172
March 31, 1927	1,634,948	3,427,779
Calendar year 1927	1,889,729	2,866,356

A glance at these figures shows that while our imports of the above named forms of iron and steel have just about doubled since 1922, our exports of the same have increased over fourfold.

Permit me to give some further figures in this connection. In 1913 the Conservative Party was in power and its policy of that time was frankly one of "adequate protection." That was long before the Winnipeg convention, and the party was not then ashamed to confess its faith in the protectionist "idol." It might be of interest to compare our imports of that time with the corresponding imports for 1927:

	1913	1927
Pigs	291,513 tons	$1,815,054
Ingot	1,641,599 cwt.	$64,491 cwt.
Billets N.O.P.	43,489 cwt.	661 cwt.
Blooms	34,405 cwt.	42,227 cwt.
	$9,949,770	$1,126,354

Add to this total chrome steel, ferro-silicon, imported in 1927, to the value of $507,783, and you have a total importation of this class during 1927 of $1,634,137, as against $5,545,760 in 1913.

It is interesting to compare the situation in regard to the production of iron and steel now, with conditions when the party of "adequate protection" was in power. Here are the figures:

	1922	1927
Castings and forgings	$4,418,262	$6,378,363
Hardware and tools	10,086,192	24,397,365
Agricultural implements	18,243,351	26,855,693
Machinery	61,956,429	128,706,114
Auto		7,244
		$1,643

These figures refer to particular branches of the industry. How has it been with the industry as a whole. Examine the following:

IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY OF CANADA

Year	No. Employees	Wages
1922	77,077	$ 84,385,369
1923	75,354	$1,029,481
1924	88,471	$11,453,809
1925	78,658	$10,028,011
1926	90,125	$11,642,470
1927	103,510	$17,640,065
1928	105,782	$12,946,592

In reply to the argument that the development in the iron and steel industry has not kept pace with our general industrial development, I would respectfully draw attention to the following figures:

ALL MANUFACTURING PLANTS IN CANADA

Year	No. Employees	Wages
1922	387,689	$49,723
1923	497,112	$53,850,433
1924	2,439,643	$3,247,603,438

Comparing the figures in the two preceding tables we find that between the years 1922 and 1926, the number of employees in the iron and steel industry increased a little over 34 per cent, while the number employed in all manufacturing industries increased barely 29 per cent. During the same period, the salaries and wages paid in this industry increased over 41 per cent, while the increase in all manufacturing industries was over 31 per cent.

There are in Canada three large concerns engaged in the production of iron and steel. They are the British Empire Steel Corporation, commonly known as "Besco," located at Sydney, Nova Scotia; the Steel Company of Canada, located at Hamilton, Ontario, and the Algoma Steel Company at the Soo.

The first mentioned company (Besco) was run at a loss for a number of years, but in 1926 showed a profit of $1,136,000, and it is expected that its 1927 statement will be equally as favorable. In 1914 the stock of the Steel Company of Canada was selling at $11 a share. To-day it is quoted at $216. The stock of Algoma Steel has advanced from $1.50 a share to $9.50 a share, since last August. Since 1912 this company has ploughed back into its plant $13,000,000, all of which was taken out of profits, and by the end of June the company will have $2,000,000 in the bank with no debts whatever outstanding.

In the light of these facts I cannot see that this industry is suffering, or is in any way entitled to Government assistance.

ONE SWALLOW DOES NOT MAKE A SUMMER

To the Editor:—Even you will agree, one disaster does not make a faction. At the Oak Bay Conservative meeting Tuesday evening, one good Tory was obsessed with the idea he would not get fair-play; however, so much fair-play was heaped upon him by his generous confederates that finally he had all of it to himself.

That the Times, always so zealous for the welfare of the Conservatives, should take such an interest in this individual faction looks uncanny.

RE LIBERAL PROPAGANDA

To the Editor:—I notice a letter in The Colonist of June 14 from one H. W. Hart, Oak Bay. Presumably a good Tory, he is lauding the late Hon. John Oliver to the skies. I can not refrain from asking why this change of heart in one so bitterly opposed to the present Liberal regime? But Mr. Hart should object to the name of our late lamented Premier being used by the Liberal Party in the present campaign. Why? Have we not as much right to use the name of our late chief-in-chief as the Tories have to quote the name of Sir Richard McBride. Or, to go back to the Old Country, are not Gladstone and Beaconsfield, often quoted by the different parties?

Girl Case May Mean Shake-up in System Of Scotland Yard

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, June 15.—It has been suggested that the Englishman is no longer the liberty loving person, both of tradition and of history, and that discipline of the war, and the encroachments of bureaucracy in all departments of public life have to some extent tamed his proud political spirit.

The case of Miss Savidge and Sir Leo Money shows that suggestion to be wholly unfounded. The moment the allegation was made that the Scotland Yard authorities had exceeded their powers and had resorted to methods which may be common on the Continent and in America, but which are entirely foreign to English practice, all three parties in the House were at one, and the storm which had it been allowed to develop, would have meant the defeat of the Government, was only averted by the prompt recognition on the part of the Home Secretary of the feeling of the House.

It is not known whether Sir William Joynson-Hicks recalled the fate of a predecessor when a somewhat similar incident arose. The then Home Secretary did not correctly gauge the feeling of the House and stood upon puerility, with the result that the House passed what was in effect a vote of censure on the Home Office.

Sir William Joynson-Hicks is unlikely to share that fate. His action throughout has been straightforward and commonsense, and whatever may be the findings of the commission which is being set up to investigate the matter they will not affect the Home Secretary personally.

The original terms of reference for the commission "would have" "might" be possible to reopen the original case which led to the incident between Miss Savidge and the Scotland Yard authorities, and the House would have none of that. The case had been decided in a most emphatic way by the magistrate, and the House would not allow it to be reopened. The only question which the commission has got to investigate is the alleged employment of third degree methods by Scotland Yard and the abuse of power by the detectives who took the girl to the Yard. There the matter must remain for the present. But should the allegations be sustained there will have to be a radical revision of Scotland Yard methods.

Another new feature were glosinas of deep purple color, named after the Duchess of York.

There was an amusing incident in a tent given over to children's gardening implements when Their Majesties chose presents for their grandchildren. They were examining pretty toy watering cans, and while the King preferred those with a long spout, the Queen favored a rose spout. Eventually an order was given for cans painted with flowers, and having a spout of the type chosen by the Queen.

It is to be feared that His Majesty was a true prophet when expressing the opinion in the fruit tent that it would be another bad year for fruit. Heavy rainfall and late frosts are having a damaging effect on the trees.

WESTERN CEDAR ONLY IN B.C.

The range of the Western cedar in Canada is confined to the Province of British Columbia. More shingles are made from the Western cedar than from any other species. Over 2,500,000,000 were cut in Canada from this tree in 1926. In addition over 130,000,000 board feet of lumber, 10,000,000 laths, and an immense number of poles and posts were produced from it in the same year.

Austen Chamberlain Makes the Clothes

Sir Austen Chamberlain, who has been made a freeman of Glasgow, wore an orchid, a monocle and was immaculately dressed in frock coat.

Such details are of the trivialities they might be if narrated of any prominent politician other than the Foreign Secretary. For in his case the man pre-eminently makes the clothes, and they are expressive of his orderly mind, his quiet dignity, his love of traditional etiquette, and his reverence for his famous father.

When Sir Austen Chamberlain takes to gardening, however, the primness and severity of his sartorial habits go. He does not claim to rank as a horticulturalist, but he has a great love of flowers and is never happier than when employed in his own garden. And those who have seen him thus occupied have admired the thoroughgoing rusticity of his habiliments.

This love of gardening, it may be noted, was indirectly inspired by his father, who long ago advised him that every man ought to cultivate a hobby as a recreation from his work. And there is no pleasanter hobby, Sir Austen has found, than gardening.

TALLEYRAND WITTY AND BRIEF

Talleyrand, the famous French diplomatist, who survived so many changes of government, died ninety years ago. Whatever may be thought of his character for consistency, nobody has ever doubted that he had a pretty wit.

One of the best stories about his epigrammatic wit is that concerning the lady who, having lost her husband, wrote an affecting letter to Talleyrand to acquaint him with the sad news.

The minister's reply was briefly, "Ah, Madame!"

His brevity was fortunate, for a short time later the same fair correspondent wrote to say that she was going to be married again, this time to an officer in the army, and, please, would Prince Talleyrand secure his promotion? Talleyrand's reply was as terse as before: "Oh! Oh! Madame!"

KING'S DAUGHTERS' HOSPITAL ELECTS YEAR'S OFFICERS

W. H. Elkington Again Chairman; Reports Show Institution Busy

Duncan, June 15.—W. H. Elkington was re-elected chairman of the board of directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital at its monthly meeting held on Wednesday. Other officers and committees were: Vice-chairman, T. A. Wood (re-elected); auditor, E. F. Miller; house committee, Miss Wilson; Mrs. Whitmore; Mrs. Elkington; Mrs. Price and Mrs. Hird; garden, Mrs. Price and Mrs. Elkington; finance, T. A. Wood; Mrs. Whitmore and Mr. Mutter; furnace, T. A. Wood; Mrs. Whitmore; Miss Wilson and E. W. Carr-Hilton; building, T. A. Wood, Mrs. Price, Mrs. H. Hardie, Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Carr-Hilton.

REPORTS SATISFACTORY
The house committee report presented by Miss Wilson showed that the various departments of the hospital were functioning well. There had been several small necessary improvements made in the general way for the upkeep of the hospital. The private rooms on the women's side need furnishings in the way of rugs, curtains, etc. During the slack time advantage is being taken to give the pupil nurses holidays.

The lady superintendent's report for May showed that 85 patients were admitted, 88 discharged, days' treatment administered 1,291, average $1.75 services (medical) 34, surgical 62, infectious 1, obstetrical 14, births 9, deaths 3, major operations 1, minor 54, consultations 3, X-ray pictures taken 43 and electrical treatment 51.

The financial statement for May showed receipts amounting to $4,186.98 and disbursements $3,949.64. Accounts passed for payment by the board totaled approximately $4,300. The general turnover for May was $3,593.60: X-ray 297. The following donations are acknowledged: many thanks: Ready-to-Help Circle (Victoria), $25 for replenishing linen supplies; Mrs. Rice, pillow slips for nursery; Mrs. Dobson, oranges; Admiral Nugent, $10; Mrs. C. Turner for Sir Clive Phillips Chapter, I.O.D.E., Cowichan, $15. Plans are being prepared by Douglas James, the architect, for the construction of a boiler house for the equipment necessary to the change over of the heating system. Tenders will be called at an early date.

MAY-BORROW UP TO $10,000
Mrs. L. H. Hardie reported that at the annual convention authority had been given to the board to borrow up to $10,000 for the necessary additions and construction of concrete septic tanks. The drainage question has given the board a lot of anxiety and it is felt that improvement in this direction is absolutely essential.

It was reported at the convention that the hospital at Duncan averaged 80.1 patients monthly during 1927. This is not correct, as an average of 120 in-patients are treated monthly. According to days' treatment administered a daily average of 46 was maintained during the year. The highest daily average of patients was in July, being 50.1.

The board appointed Mrs. Elkington, Mrs. Jackson and E. W. Carr-Hilton delegates to the annual convention of the B.C. Hospital Association to be held in Vancouver on August 16, 17 and 18.

The present at the meeting were: W. H. Elkington, chairman; T. A. Wood, vice-chairman; Mrs. L. H. Hardie, Provincial president of King's Daughters, Victoria; Mesdames J. H. Whitmore, W. H. Elkington, F. H. Price, J. L. Hird, H. Fry and E. F. Miller; Mrs. Wilson, Mayor J. T. Lay, Mayor, city of Duncan; R. Coates, municipality of North Cowichan; Miss C. E. Jackson, lady superintendent, and E. W. Carr-Hilton, secretary-treasurer.

Four V.O. Nurses Paid 782 Visits To Cases in May

Four V.O.N. nurses were on duty for a total of 782 hours during May, according to the report presented at the monthly meeting of the local board. These four nurses paid 782 visits of which 411 were nursing visits, 45 prenatal, 30 post-natal, 149 child welfare, 202 instructive of which 23 were T.B. and 3 confinements were attended. A total of 426 of these visits were free. In addition 30 post-natal, 149 child welfare, 5 mothercraft classes held.

Donations for the month of May for which the board tendered its very grateful thanks, included woolens from Mrs. Hardy and the Ready-to-Help Circle, King's Daughters; baby clothes, Mrs. K. R. Dimiston; magazines, Mrs. Ross Sutherland; cash, Mrs. Beasley and B.C. Electric Co.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THE OVER-KINDLY NEIGHBOR

PROVES ANNOYING

The well-reared dog, for his own protection, may have to be taught not to accept food from strangers. Babies and children are not so protected and so are at the mercy of neighbors or relatives whose hearts are kinder than their judgment is sound. We have known persons to urge sweets on children who had been forbidden to eat between meals. "It's all right," they assure the children. "I'll tell your mother I gave it to you."

This is a more serious matter than that of one feeding of candy, which, undoubtedly, would not do any more harm than to spoil the child's appetite for the next meal. It is a secret louting of the mother's authority, an undermining of the child's faith in his justness.

The mother refuses to give the child anything to eat between meals, and the neighbor taking the child aside whispers ingratiatingly: "Come over to my house and I'll think I can find something nice for a hungry little boy." The mother has a real cause for grievance against such a neighbor or, often happens, against a member of the family who is guilty of such conduct. This is a prime method of winning the child's favor, and some persons are so unscrupulous as to make use of it.

THE THOUGHTFUL NEIGHBOR

There are plenty of persons wise enough to say this to a child. "I am giving you two pieces of candy for you to take home. Your mother will give it to you at the right time." Or: "I have a cup custard for your lunch." Such favors fill the giver with pleasant emotions and still do not break down the barriers the mother has erected about the child's diet. If a child hears a third party in his presence: "I think you are foolish to deny that child pie. I give it to Tommy all the time, and it doesn't hurt him," he feels that his mother is unnecessarily strict with him and he is going to resent and refuse to be bound by her commands.

The neighbor or relative should never criticize the mother's methods of handling or feeding a child in the child's presence, and that holds equally true for fathers. The neighbor who likes to feed the small children of the neighborhood does not take into account the obvious fact that she is exacting whatever pleasure there is from the situation while the mother is compelled to suffer the result, whether that is sickness from unwise indulgence in food, or merely a ruined appetite for the good food which is next placed before the child.

The program will consist of songs, piano solos, dances, sketches and recitations. There will also be a tombola, and light refreshments will be served. A small charge will be made. The next meeting of the Canterbury Belles Club will take place at the home of Miss Clough, on Tuesday evening, June 19, at 8 p.m. in the Knott-C-Hall, starting at 8.30. Woman University Graduate Finds Family No Obstacle

Toronto, June 15.—Prima donna are not uncommonly asked if children are an obstacle to an artistic career. And the answer is generally in the affirmative.

One of the fair recipients of degrees at the university convocation proved triumphantly that children are no obstacle to a career in the arts.

Breaking the tradition that the graduating class must have no ornaments other than bouquets she went to her room with the chancellor wearing more jewels than Cornelia.

Six children, the eldest thirteen, and the youngest four, watched Mrs. George Bryce add scholastic laurels to the garland of maternity. A string of dance programmes may have been fatal millstones around the neck of girl students to whom the examination hall was a hall of ruthless judgment.

But it must not be imagined that for four years she has been struggling to a B.A. goal through measles and whooping cough as well as past Latin, and has been heating the midnight milk bottle as well as burning the midnight oil. Her degree was a M.A. degree, and her thesis was on anthropology.

Mrs. Bryce was Miss Lucy Robinson, one of the luminaries of the class of 1911. Her undergraduate fame was all the more creditable because she was by nationality a Japanese. That is to say, she was born in Japan where her father was a British missionary.

If one accepts the American theory that race is determined by place of birth, this family is indeed a rare one in its anthropology. If the mother is a Japanese, one of the children is a Canadian and five are Indians. Their motherland is mother India, and as they were born in a state that contains the world's most primitive people, the Dravidians, they might be said to belong to the lowest caste and to be more ancient than the Aryans.

Miss Robinson, after graduation, married George Bryce, another Toronto graduate, and went as a missionary to the State of Indiana in Central India. It is in the highlands near the Ganges, and her Indian children are now-checked and the picture of health.

In Rimpur, a town which commemorates a missionary called Russell, she and her husband conduct a secondary school preparing Indian students for the university. Being in the centre of the world's greatest anthropological museum or laboratory her thoughts naturally turned to the history of human races. She did not subscribe to the Nordic theory which treats all other races as outcasts.

"If you have a feeling of human brotherhood," said she, "you must be interested in all races."

The bulk of her work for her M.A. degree was done in India in the midst of the cares of a household and a school. "The last year," said she, "I have been working in Toronto with Professor Brown and Professor McIlwraith."

5,000,000 WOMEN SPECULATE IN U.S.

New York Firm Reviews Heavy Investments Made By Women

New York, June 15.—The estimate that there are 5,000,000 women speculators in the United States who have some of the cynicism to say it is the end of the bull market.

Actually this fact is only a minor by-product of the increasing power of American women, according to a publication by Sulzberger, Granger & Company. The feminine half of the population learned the lesson of the Liberty Loan campaign, and out of 20,000,000 investors in the country now it is estimated one-quarter of them are women.

"In many of the soundest and largest of American corporations to-day there are more women than men stockholders, surprising as that may seem," the review says. "It is true that the American Telephone and Telegraph, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and money other companies. Women own more than 41,000,000 shares of A. T. & T. with a market value of more than $800,000,000."

"They comprise 39 per cent of the stockholders of the Union Pacific, owning stock with a value in excess of $114,000,000. Nearly half the stockholders of Southern Pacific are women. The 6,600 women who own 300,000 shares of Southern Railway have securities worth about $39,000,000, while their ownership in Chicago and Northwestern is nearly as large. English, French, Canadian, Dutch and American women are the most numerous holders of Canadian Pacific."

"Chicago, June 15.—A handful of artists' models and mannequins, coming to a conclusion that 'It's a shame the way the employers treat the girls,' have decided to organize the 'Models and Mannequins' Union, A.E.O.L."

More money and longer rest periods were two objectives cited by Miss Safford, who was chosen secretary, at a meeting here.

Miss Safford catalogued the complaints: "We get only $1 an hour," she said. "And we sometimes have to pose for two hours at a time without a chance to rest." Postures such as long stretch as "Winged Mercury" or some such, tensely postured Latin deity, it was pointed out, proves extremely wearisome.

There are 6,000 eligible for the union in Chicago, Miss Safford said, counting mannequins in fashion shops. Three dollars an hour and more rest periods will be demanded, she told the thirty charter members.

CABINET PROSPECTS

Repudiating the report that he had offered the position of Attorney-General to A. H. MacNeill, K.C., in the expectation of being returned to power, Dr. Tolmie declared: "I have never offered or intimated to any single man that I was going to give him a seat in the Cabinet. I have not bargained with any man. I am in the position of a carpenter who must wait until his material is on the ground before he can construct any kind of a Cabinet. I don't propose to go about recklessly offering Cabinet positions, perhaps to find after the election that we have more positions promised than there are positions to be filled. I shall wait until the last minute, and then take the best men I can find."

EDUCATION NEGLECTED

Dr. Tolmie admitted that part of his political education had been neglected in that he had never learned how to handle political matters, to force men to become Liberals before they could get jobs on the roads; to overspend on contracts, or to bungle administration as it had been bungled in British Columbia in the last twelve years.

He went on to discuss financial questions, citing figures to show the increase of British Columbia's debt at the rate of $7,000,000 under Liberal rule, as against $500,000 a year under the former Conservative Government. Under the present regime, he added, estimates had been continually overspent.

The Government's "experiment" in railroading, he said, had raised the cost of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from $22,000,000 to $35,000,000.

INSULT TO VOTERS

He called the appointment of a Vancouver Cabinet Minister on the eve of the election "an insult to the voters."

"The question is: are we going to tie a new brush on this old broom stick and give it another five or ten years' trial?" he said, and there were cries of "No, no!"

He turned then to Premier MacLean's election manifesto and its statement that the Government was confident the Canadian National Railways would take over the P.G.E. He read from Hansard a statement by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, to the effect that negotiations between the C.N.R. management of several provincial railways had been authorized, and were "proceeding satisfactorily."

"You can see how far this has advanced and whether the Premier is justified in being confident or not. The day before the Premier's statement was issued the Minister of Railways knew nothing of an agreement of this kind," he said.

RAILWAY LANDS

Dr. Tolmie said his party had worked continuously for the return of the railway belt and the Peace River block, while the Government had been interested in the matter for only two years. He added that if he were elected he would carry on negotiations for the final return of the railway assets.

Turning to the dumping duty question, Dr. Tolmie blamed the Federal Government for failure to impose special duties to protect Canadian farmers.

"It was quite clear to us in Ottawa after lengthy discussions that the Government did not intend to protect our farmers," he said.

NO MINISTER PRESENT

"I notice in the papers to-night," he said, "that Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, says so far as he knows British Columbia was the only Province represented at the dumping duty conference by a Cabinet Minister. Well, was that at conference, and if British Columbia had been represented there, I didn't see him. We looked for a certain representative of the British Columbia Cabinet, who was supposed to be present, but if he were there he must have been under a chair or sofa, where out of sight. I don't think he was there at all. He was not present and did not take any part in the proceedings."

The MacLean Government was boasting of its influence with the Federal Government, he remarked.

"If he has no more influence with the Government in connection with the dumping duty we can't expect much," he remarked.

FEARS DUMPING

Dumping of United States fruit on Canadian markets this year will demonstrate conditions here, Dr. Tolmie warned.

Defending his former attitude in favor of oleomargarine, for which he has been attacked, Dr. Tolmie said the people of Canada had decided against the use of this substance and the matter was closed.

"I am prepared to accept the people's verdict," he said. "The matter is forgotten so far as I am concerned."

"This election will have a tremendous effect all over Canada," Dr. Tolmie predicted, adding that the Conservative Party had placed many outstanding men in the field.

CONGRATULATES SAANICH

Gordon Cameron, president of the Oak Bay Conservative Association, congratulated Saanich on the candidature of Dr. Tolmie in the district, but urged Conservatives to work hard in the election.

"We must wreck the machine!" he urged. "The only way that can be done is for all Conservatives to vote solidly."

VOTE FOR PARTY

Admitting that Premier MacLean "might be a good man," he urged Conservatives to "vote for the party not the man" in order to bring about a change of government.

When he was introduced by Colonel Wood as the man who had sportingly given up his seat to Dr. Tolmie, T. G. Coventry, modestly disclaimed any particular credit, saying that any man would have done the same thing for "the future Premier."

Legislature for voting down his motion to secure a seasonal tariff or a dumping duty, and declared the absence of such a duty now was hitting the strawberry growers of Saanich.

WHO HAVE YOU GOT TO THANK FOR THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT?

Dr. Tolmie asked: "Why, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, who three times voted against any resolutions in favor of a seasonal tariff or a dumping duty?"

In the past, he went on, the "Grits had been in control, but the present campaign a new element seemed to be in control and the fight was being carried on in a 'dirty' fashion."

ATTACKS MANSON

Mr. Coventry went on to dispute the financial claims of Attorney-General Manson, whom he repeatedly referred to as "Wee Alec, the Boy Wonder from the North." The Government, he said, was inventing new taxes every day, as for instance the new brake inspection regulation which would be a steady expense to motorists. Half the figures in the Government's new booklet "British Columbia's Progress" were "just bunk," Mr. Coventry asserted.

The Attorney-General's Department under Mr. Manson has been much more interested in politics than in law enforcement, Mr. Coventry charged. He referred to the Sankey murder case, which he said had not been solved, the man charged with the crime having been acquitted recently.

"I ask you married men in view of this case, do you feel safe in allowing your daughters to go out as school teachers into the wilds?" he demanded. "When this trial was under way in New Westminster, where was the Boy Wonder from the North? He was out electioneering!"

JANET SMITH CASE

Mr. Coventry also brought up the Janet Smith case, which he called a blot on the escutcheon of the Province, and incidentally pointed out that M. B. Jackson, K.C., who acted as special Government investigator in the present case, was a Liberal candidate in the election. He recalled that Mr. Manson had exercised his office to enter a nolle prosequi and thus withdraw a charge against Mr. Jackson while "others went to jail."

H. D. Twigg of Victoria said the people need not worry about Dr. Tolmie's absentee leadership. "It was a good thing that Dr. Tolmie had been in Ottawa recently when the Provincial and Federal Governments were bargaining to give away a large part of British Columbia," he declared.

Mr. Twigg attacked the Government booklet, "British Columbia's Progress" as absolutely unfair and designed for political effect. If figures of industry for 1928 were to be compared with those of 1914, then it was only right to quote also the figures of 1903, to show the progress registered under thirteen years of Conservative rule, he urged.

"The Liberal Government in power represents 33 1-3 per cent of the voters," Mr. Twigg went on. "To get elected it must gain enough new votes to make over 50 per cent of the total poll. Can it do that?"

"No!" cried an old man at the back of the hall in a loud voice.

"What gave them control of the House?" Mr. Twigg asked. "Why, the grossest kind of manipulation of the absentee vote!"

To support this statement, he referred to the North Vancouver election and pointed out that a leading Liberal there had recently informed the Premier that the seat had been held through manipulation of the absentee vote.

LABOR DOMINATION

The Government had held power under the domination of Independent and Labor members, Mr. Twigg said. To illustrate this statement he stated that no member of the Government had spoken in favor of the Male Minimum Wage Act, for which the Premier and Mr. Manson now claimed credit. Actually the Government did not want the bill, which had been forced through by Labor members.

The only addition of new blood in the Cabinet, said Mr. Twigg, was the appointment of Hon. Donald Donaghy, "a very fine and able man." The Government had lost two of its best men in the late Premier Oliver and Hon. William Sloan.

"They're just the same old bunch," he declared.

"With Dr. Tolmie we're going to run away with this election," Mr. Twigg predicted.

Colonel Wood, president of the Saanich Conservative Association, who presided, said he perceived a growing interest in politics and an increasing regard for Dr. Tolmie.

The Last Frontier

English Net Team Takes Lead

American Women Lose Two of Three Matches At Wimbledon Courts

Eileen Bennett Defeats Mrs. Mallory While Helen Wills Wins Over Mrs. Watson in Singles; Miss Harvey and Miss Saunders Score Second Victory for England in Wightman Cup Series by Defeating Miss Goss and Miss Jacobs in Doubles; Four Matches To-morrow

Wimbledon, Eng., June 15.—England's Wightman Cup team of women tennis players to-day took a lead of two matches to one over the United States holders of the trophy. After Mrs. Molla Mallory had lost to Miss Eileen Bennett, of England, 6-1, 6-3 and Miss Helen Wills had defeated Mrs. Holoroff Watson 6-1, 6-2, the English pair of Miss Harvey and Miss Saunders defeated Miss Goss and Miss Jacobs in 6-4, 6-1.

Overcast skies threatened a rainy afternoon when Mrs. Mallory and Miss Bennett appeared on the famous centre court at Wimbledon Stadium to start the sixth Wightman Cup contest.

Nearly 2,000 spectators scattered through the big stadium applauded vigorously as the American veteran and the English ranking star began to play. Mrs. Mallory lost the first game on her own service and also dropped the second. Both games were driving contests fought from the baselines.

Miss Bennett's swift, overpowering play in winning the first set, 6-1, gave her an advantage which she maintained to the end to give Britain victory in the first singles matches of the contest for the cup.

NEVER HAD A CHANCE

Mrs. Mallory recovered appreciably in the second set, but she settled down too late and never had the ball under control like her younger opponent. Mrs. Mallory slashed into the net far too often. The sixth and seventh games were hard fought, both being deuced several times. Mrs. Mallory finally lost both, hanging into the net. Miss Wills and Mrs. Watson received applause as they posed for photographs at the start of their match and sent practice shots zipping across the net. Miss Wills was playing in rare form, and she swept the first games in quick succession.

The points score:

First Set:
Miss Wills . . . 4 4 4 0 4 4—24-6
Mrs. Watson . . . 2 1 0 2 4 1 0—10-1

Second Set:
Miss Wills . . . 4 4 3 3 5 4 4—32-6
Mrs. Watson . . . 1 1 1 5 7 2 2 1—30-2

By taking the doubles match to-day after breaking even in the singles England gained a distinct advantage which it will endeavor to hold throughout the remaining matches scheduled for to-morrow.

HOLD GOOD EDGE

Four matches are on the programme, three in singles and one in doubles. The cup is to go to the team which wins four out of the total seven.

England thus needs two more matches to capture the trophy. The last time the English were successful was in 1925 at Forest Hills, in the United States, where they won four matches to three.

Golfers who find the Colwood course difficult might study this picture which was taken from a height of 1,500 feet by the B.C. Airways Limited. Golfers who complain of too many trees, bunkers and waterholes will possibly be surprised to find that there are not so many trees after all and that the bunkers are easy to see and with proper navigation can be avoided. Twenty Bobsles Seen in Ball Fixture Last Night When Eagles Defeat Old-timers

Twenty errors, twenty-four hits and thirty-two runs were chalked by the official scorers in the last night's Senior Amateur League baseball game between the Eagles and Old-timers which was won by the latter by 17-15. Fielding on both sides was terrible while the pitching was in a similar class.

The fans had seen just about everything that could enter into a ball game by the end of seven innings.

One feature about the fixture was it was anybody's game up to the last inning. The Old-timers, always good for a flying start, chalked up a big lead in the early stages but were unable to hold it. In the first inning the bats crossed the plate seven times but even with this advantage they were unable to pull off their first victory of the season.

OH, HOW THEY PLAYED!

The Eagles fell on McDonald's offerings like a spinster for her first proposal and pounded him all over the lot. Any support he might have expected from his teammates never came, everybody booting the ball.

Keown started for the Eagles but failed to survive the first inning when he was chased in favor of Baker, who finished the game.

Zaccarelli led the hitters for the evening with a home run, and two singles out of three trips to the plate. Robinson was the leading hitter on the Eagles' side with three out of five.

The box score is as follows and tells the pathetic story:

Royals, Now Football Crazy, Want Big Title

New Westminster's Crack Soccer Team Will Be Here To-morrow Afternoon to Play Esquimalt; Mainland Town, Always Supreme in Lacrosse, Is Anxious to Win Soccer Championship of Canada

New Westminster, one of the best little sport towns in the world, has high ambitions this year. They are sending their lacrosse team to Amsterdam to show the world how the game should be played and they now plan to have their football team in the finals of the Connaught Cup series and win the Canadian championship.

New Westminster has for many years been the world centre for lacrosse and it is fitting that the first time Canada is to send a team to the Olympic Games that it should be from the Royal City.

Lacrosse, however, has not held the same sway in recent years in the West as it did in days gone by, but Westminster has always maintained a team that was good enough to cope with any assault made on their claim to Dominion honors.

RED-HOT ON FOOTBALL

The Royals have taken to football with the same keen interest as they always showed in lacrosse. For several years they have been endeavoring to win the British Columbia title. But they have been speeded out by the Island clubs. This year, however, they claim to have the finest and strongest club in the Province and one which would sweep through to the Canadian championship.

The Westminster club will be here to-morrow to meet the Esquimalt team in the round before the semi-finals of the British Columbia play-offs. The Royals have had little trouble so far this season but it is expected that they will be hard put to win to-morrow.

The kick-off will be at 4 o'clock and the greatest crowd of the season is expected. Every soccer fan wants to see the Royals in action.

SOFTBALL

Leadership in the Westholme Softball League is again tied up following last night's games. Merigold jumped on to even terms with Langford at the head of the loop by defeating their out-of-town rivals 11-5 while the Times team remained only one point behind the leaders by taking the Crescents into camp by 14-7.

The Marigold-Langford game was a hard tussle all the way, both teams playing a good brand of ball. Bunched hits in two innings enabled the Marigold aggregation to get the decision.

With Sid Jenkins on the pitcher's mound, the Times took an early lead in their fixture with the Crescents and maintained it throughout the game.

The fielding of C. McDonald was one of the features of the game.

Wilfert took another bump on the nose, when the Colonist walked off with a 2-1-5 victory in the third scheduled game.

Talayaha Getting Close to Honolulu

Los Angeles, June 15.—The sloop Talayaha at 11 o'clock last night was about 300 miles out from Honolulu. This was a message to the Associated Press from the 102-foot craft early today. The dispatch was received through an amateur station which has kept in touch with the yacht since they started June 5.

O.C. Cricket

Closing scores in other games were: Middlesex, 435 four four, declared; Essex, 92 for one wicket.

Surrey, 226; Sussex, 287; Surrey, 104 for no wickets.

Glamorgan, 126; Somerset, 149; Glamorgan, 158 for six and Somerset 24 for two wickets.

Lancashire, 316; Gloucestershire, 120; Gloucestershire followed on and scored 99 for four wickets.

Cambridge University, 381 for eight wickets, declared; Northants, 169; Northants followed on and scored 23 for three wickets.

Hornsby Is Out For Five Days As Cause of Trouble

New York, June 15.—Charged with responsibility for the bottle throwing that marked yesterday's game between the Braves and Cardinals at Boston, Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Braves, to-day was ordered suspended for five days.

For "excessively bad conduct on the ball field."

St. Louis Cards Are Now Main Threat In National Loop Race

Bill McKechnie Has His Pitchers Working Right and His Batters Socking Ball Hard; Cardinals Now Within Half a Game of Cincinnati, Who Hold Leadership; New York Giants Find Pittsburgh as Tough as Cincinnati and Lose Again; Washington Win Seventh Game in Eight Starts

With each passing day the triumphant song of the Cardinals of St. Louis—a symphony of base hits—rings more plainly upon the ears of National League pennant contenders.

His pitching staff again in working order, Bill McKechnie, who once managed the Pittsburgh Pirates to the pennant and then to a world's championship, has the Cardinals headed in the same general direction.

There's many a pitfall in any big league campaign, but the Cardinals feel that their share of bad luck has already come to them.

CAPITALS TO MEET BEAVER

Washington Club Will Appear To-morrow in Two Games at Royal Athletic

Victoria Capitals will play two games at the Royal Athletic Park to-morrow against a team from Beaver, Washington. The first fixture will start at 2 o'clock and the second at 6:15 o'clock.

Beaver officials have wired that they are bringing over a first-class club. The team plays in a league in Callum County. The town itself is situated close to Port Angeles.

Ray Parfitt will pitch the first game for the Capitals while Jimmy Dangerfield will work the evening game. Both pitchers are in fine condition and hope to be able to turn back the visitors.

So far this season the Capitals have lost only one exhibition game to outside clubs. The U.S.S. Pennsylvania turned the trick. The team is going great now and playing a good brand of ball.

CLUBMEN AND SIDNEY PLAY

Tillamook and Sidney, Commercial League ball teams, will meet to-night at the Royal Athletic Park commencing at 6:15 o'clock. This will be Sidney's first game in the second half of the league schedule.

Lloyd Cann will pitch for the Tillamooks and will be opposed by Wade Steele, for Sidney.

On Wednesday night the Tillamooks lost a tough game to the Westholmes in ten innings.

Ballyhoo Started By Rickard For Annual Title Extravaganza

Will Employ Higher Pressure Methods to Put Over the Tunney-Heeney Scrap Than Fight Racket Has Ever Known in Past; Principals Start Off With a Little Military Touch to Their Training; "Public Relations Counsel" Appointed for Both Fighters; Gate to Be $2,000,000, Says Tex

By ALAN J. GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, June 15.—Higher pressure methods are being employed to ballyhoo the forthcoming Tunney-Heeney heavyweight championship fight than for any big title extravaganza Tex Rickard, or anyone else, has ever promoted.

Gene Tunney is entertained with some of his war buddies in sumptuous fashion to help signalize the start of the champion's intensive training programme. To get the military touch, Tom Heeney visits West Point, while Rickard's yacht to-day embarked with the war correspondents to inaugurate officially the Anzac's conditioning siege at Fairhaven, N.J.

PUBLICITY PUNCHERS

Tunney, already equipped with aides, engaged the services of one of the most widely known publicity men in the sports game so that fandom may be come better acquainted with the champion, his career and artistic pursuits.

Not to be outdone, the Heeney entourage has attached to it an equally resourceful "public relations counsel."

It seems to be the general opinion among the experts that the fight is to be a financial success. It is understood that Rickard must take in over $1,000,000 before he begins to show any profits. The first million will be consumed chiefly by Tunney's guarantee, as well as Heeney's share and the expenses of promotion.

RICKARD OPTIMISTIC

Rickard does not share any of the pessimism about the bout's prospects, however. The promoter figures it will draw close to $2,000,000 higher by about $500,000 than his original estimate. He bases it on a seating capacity at the Yankee Stadium of 97,000, the biggest for any sport event ever held in New York City, and a price scale of $5 to $40, including tax.

The promoter will ask the boxing commission to approve these figures. The "rigid" seats, if they are filled, will contribute $1,000,000 alone on the basis of Rickard's figuring.

New York, June 15 (Canadian Press).—Only one Canadian will compete in the United States open golf championship at the Olympic Fields Country Club, Mattoon, Ill., near Chicago, on June 21. He is Frank Thompson, winner of the Canadian Amateur title in 1921 and 1924.

LOFT OF CLUB AND SPIN OF BALL
MAKE LATTER RISE—NO LIFTING
STROKE NEEDED

An amazing number of golfers, including many who have played for several years, have difficulty in getting the ball up in the air. Indeed, many find it impossible for that reason to use a wood club in the fairway. It seems to them that no matter how hard they try to pick the ball up they just can't manage it.

Now the trouble, strangely enough, is simply that they do try to lift the ball into the air. Time and again I have seen a person, confronted by a close lying ball, try to get under it so he could hit it upward. The inevitable result has been a complete "top" or an unimposing roller down the fairway.

These futile attempts are unquestionably due to a total failure to understand what makes the ball rise. Of course, if a tee is used, and the lifting stroke is exact enough, the ball will go into the air, but even then it is in a lobbing curve without power or control.

MEHLHORN A TERRIFIC IRON PLAYER

A golf ball rises into the air from a close lie not because the direction of the blow is upward, but because of the spin imparted by the club face. In every stroke except the full drive from a tee the ball is struck downward, and if dependence were put in the direction of the blow, every iron shot hit by an expert would bury in the ground. I have watched Bill Mehlhorn hit iron shots when he was really letting out—Bill can smash them—and when he ripped through the ball into the turf he would dig up a divot about the size of a seven-and-a-half hat, and I could almost feel the ground tremble. Golf balls do not hop along the ground when Bill hits them.

That reminds me of an amusing and true story of an incident of the Southern Open at Atlanta last March. A galleryite, after watching one of the more prominent contestants for a few holes, was heard to remark:

"I don't see how that fellow hits a ball so far when he digs up all this dirt."

Do write often and tell me all.

JUNIOR TENNIS FINALS REACHED

S. Jones, Defending Champ Under Eighteen, Will Meet McSwain Once Again

R. M. Hanbury and J. W. Harrison in Two Finals; Doreen Swayne Strong

Yesterday's play in the British Columbia Junior Tennis Tournament at the Willows saw competition in the three boys' events reach the final round, while by to-night play in the girls' divisions will have reached the same stage. A veritable gale played havoc with the matches yesterday, and the scores were one-sided in the majority of cases.

The finals of each class will be played starting at 2:30 o'clock.

JONES VS. MCSWAIN

Steve Jones, the defending under eighteen titleholder, advanced another step towards retaining his crown by defeating R. A. Hanbury 6-3, 6-3, and will meet Elliott McSwain in the finals for the second year in succession. Jones won last year 6-4, 5-7 and 6-1.

Hanbury led 3-2 in both sets against the champion, but Jones brought his guns to bear and soon removed all doubt as to the outcome.

WEST IN TWO FINALS

R. M. Hanbury and J. W. Harrison meet in both the under sixteen and under fifteen finals as a result of wins in the semi-finals yesterday. They appear to be very well matched.

Helen Campbell gained the final bracket of the girls' under eighteen division by defeating her old rival, Joan List, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Campbell was too steady for her younger opponent. Miss List, however, appears to be headed for both the under fifteen and under sixteen titles on her present form.

Doreen Swayne, who is seeking her third straight under eighteen championship, will be seen in action to-day in her semi-final match with Jean Campbell. The titleholder should win without much difficulty.

Yesterday's results were: Girls under fifteen—F. Oldham won from S. Chalk, 6-3, 7-5, 6-1; J. Campbell won from G. Coveleskie, 6-1, 9-7; F. Oldham won from K. Johnson, 7-5, 6-4; M. E. Field won from J. Homer, 6-3, 6-1.

Girls under eighteen—Doreen Swayne won from E. Slack, 6-0, 6-3; Helen Campbell won from Joan List, 6-3, 6-4 (semi-final).

Girls under sixteen—M. Little won from V. Goddard, 6-2, 6-3; D. Chalk won from M. Little, 6-6, 1-6, 8-6; J. List won from J. Delves, 6-2, 6-1; J. List won from M. Twigg, 6-0, 6-0 (semi-final).

Boys under fifteen—Harrison won from R. A. Hanbury, 6-3, 6-3 (semi-final).

Boys under eighteen—Steve Jones won from R. A. Hanbury, 6-3, 6-3 (semi-final).

Large Crowd of Friends and Old Boys at Collegiate School Sports

Tildale was the outstanding athlete in the sports held by the Collegiate School at the Royal Jubilee grounds yesterday. By virtue of his win in the senior 100 and 440 he was acclaimed as the day's outstanding runner.

A great number of old boys and parents turned out to see the school boys run and they were highly pleased with the high standard maintained by the lads. Preceding the presentation of the prizes, the members of the school, after tea, Headmaster Muskett opened the presentation with a short address.

Mr. Curtis, assisted by Mr. Muskett and Mr. Martin, presented the prizes, which were both numerous and of fine quality.

When all the awards had been made the competitors showed their appreciation of those who had donated the prizes and those who had officiated in the meet by giving them three lusty cheers.

The complete results were: 100 yards, under 12—1, Clowes minor, prize presented by Gordon Gilmour; 2, Campbell, prize presented by Mrs. Clowes.

100 yards, open—1, Tildale; 2, Lort major, prize presented by Mrs. Rolston. 220 yards, under 12—1, Clowes minor, prize presented by P. F. Curtis; 2, Campbell, prize presented by W. Loveland.

Spitball Pitchers Hang On Though Branded Through Ten Years Ago

JACK QUINN CLARENCE MITCHELL URBAN SHOCKER WM. DOAK COVELESKIE BURLEIGH GRIMES URBAN FABER

Way back there in 1919 the legislators of baseball, reasoning that something should be done to relieve the oppression that despotic pitchers were exercising over the batters, ruled that no foreign substance of any kind could be applied to the ball by the pitcher.

By one stroke of legislation the emory-ball, the resin-ball, the shiner and the spitter were ruled out as implements of battle and the magnates leaned back with the satisfied feeling of a big job well done.

Then came to them later, in humble mien, a delegation representing a group of loyal old workers. They were spokesmen for the "spitters," the last of a noble old band who would become public charges if they could not use their spitter.

Their appeals touched the hard hearts of the magnates. "They are a bunch of old war horses," one of the magnates pleaded. "They are all half-dead now and their lives will be on our souls if we rule them into a death of starvation. Let them use the spitter until they die. They can't use it then and the spitter will die with them." And the rule was amended to provide that the old spitters could continue to spit but that no young fellows could cultivate the nasty habit.

HOW THEY HANG ON

That was almost ten years ago, and the magnates are beginning to wonder if the last ball ever pitched by a spitter ever will be ready for the Smithsonian Institution. Seven of the old boys are still around and three of them are very much around.

The hardy survivors of that doomed breed are Jack Quinn, Stan Coveleskie, Burleigh Grimes, Urban Shocker, Red Faber, Bill Doak and Clarence Mitchell, the only southpaw spitter who ever lived in captivity.

Two of the ancients, Coveleskie and Shocker, are still good enough to hold fancy-paying jobs on the New York Yankees, the greatest team in baseball, and the most ancient of them, Jack Quinn, is one of the stars on one of the best Athletic teams, Connie Mack ever has owned.

They are all listed on baseball's roll of freaks, but Quinn is the king and dean of them all.

Old Jack has become so aged that he is sensitive about his age. The record book shows that he is forty-three years old, but some of the veteran baseball writers are sure that he is forty-eight or more.

Quinn came up with the Yankees in 1909 and at that time, a writer recalled recently, he admitted that he was twenty-eight years of age, and intimated that he was putting it low as he didn't want to be fired for being too old. Quinn has been with the Tanks twice, Rochester, the Braves, the Baltimore Feds, Vernon, the White Sox and the Red Sox, and he is now one of the aces with the Athletics.

JUST BOUNCING AROUND

Coveleskie has bounced around for years with the champion Cleveland Indians and the champion Washington Senators, and he is now doing a good job of hurling for the champion Yankees after he had been tossed overboard by the Senators as a "through." He had to beg the Yankees for a job last winter and he proved to be a gift from the fates when the New York pitching staff went blooey.

Urban Shocker is also drawing salary with the champions. He hasn't done much this season because he was late reporting and was hurt when he was about ready for work.

Burleigh Grimes was considered good enough to be grabbed by the Pittsburgh Pirates last winter and he won four out of his first seven starts. He probably will do better as McDougall let him get away from the Giants because he never was much of a spring pitcher.

Faber, Doak and Mitchell aren't so much, but they're pretty good for old men because they are able to stick around, and the magnates aren't disposed to charity in keeping curiosities around the park.

Twenty-five Naval Officers Will Sail On President Liner

With a passenger list of more than three hundred, the American Mail liner President Jefferson will sail from Victoria to-morrow afternoon at 8 o'clock for China, Japan and the Philippines. Included in the first cabin list of seventy-five are twenty-five United States naval officers, en route to duty with the United States fleet in Asiatic waters, who will replace men being transferred to other squadrons. This will be the largest contingent of United States naval men to leave the States for the Orient for many months.

The Jefferson will leave Seattle at noon to-morrow and will arrive here at 4 o'clock. After picking up local passengers, cargo and mail she will put to sea, bound for the Orient, with a full cargo of Northwest products and overland freight for the Orient and the Philippines.

New Submarines Seen as Wonders

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times London, June 15.—The new British submarine Otis, which took the water at the Vickers Works at Barrow, belongs to a class which is expected to have great endurance and sea-keeping quality.

Oberon, the first of the class, has been in commission for nearly a year, and has given satisfactory results, as did the Australian vessels Oxley and Otway, until they developed a weakness in their engine columns, which is now being rectified at Malta.

The Otis and her five sister ships are slightly larger and heavier boats than Oberon, Oxley and Otway. They will be capable of going down to the depth of 330 feet reached the other day by the Italian submarine Baleno, a dive which the Italians erroneously claimed as a world record.

EIGHT LINERS IN THREE DAYS

A total of more than 80,000 tons of deep sea shipping will call and sail from Victoria from the period starting this evening with the arrival of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia until Monday with the arrival of the President Lincoln and the Yokohama Maru. Eight deep sea ships will touch at the port of Victoria over this week end making a gross tonnage of 80,013.

The first to call will be the Empress of Asia from China and Japan and the Philippines due to arrive at the William Head quarantine station this evening at 10 o'clock, and at the Rithet piers about 11 o'clock. The next ship to touch at this port will be the American Mail liner President Jefferson outbound for China, Japan and the Philippines, which will sail from this port to-morrow afternoon at 8 o'clock. The Donaldson liner Gracia from Hongkong and other Oriental

The first ship on Sunday will be the Pacific Steamship Company's coastwise liner Ruth Alexander, which will sail from this port at 9 o'clock for California ports. The other sailing on Sunday will be the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Alabama Maru, which will leave Victoria for the Far East at 5 o'clock. Dock Will Be Ready For New Ship's Arrival

Work Is Being Rushed at Pier C, Evans, Coleman & Evans's Pier in Inner Harbor; Ivan Becroft Will Be Special Representative of Victoria-Edmonds Ferry Company

Plans were to-day being rushed for the reception to-morrow at noon of the Victoria-Edmonds Ferry Company's new ship, which will make her initial trip to this city from Edmonds to-morrow morning, leaving the United States city at 8 o'clock and arriving here at noon.

Already numerous inquiries have been received regarding the new schedule and from the start the new route from Victoria into Seattle by boat and stage promises to become popular with the traveling public and one that will become permanent.

TOWN OFFICE

The town office for the new ferry company was opened this morning when Ivan Becroft special representative of the company, arrived from Seattle and took up headquarters in the premises at 216 Government Street now occupied by the Great Northern and Nippon Yusen Kaisha agencies. A representative will also be sent from Seattle to operate at the ticket office and information bureau now being constructed at considerable expense at Pier C, Evans, Coleman and Evans dock in the Inner Harbor.

RUSHING WORK

Work was this morning being rushed by a large gang of men on the alterations to the Evans dock so that docking facilities will be available for the new vessel when she arrives on her first trip to-morrow. Considerable painting has been done on the sheds and approaches and what was formerly somewhat of an eyesore, will soon become a hive of industry. FIRST VESSEL FROM MONTREAL THIS YEAR TO ARRIVE TO-NIGHT

The first vessel from Montreal this year to the Pacific Coast, the Canadian National freighter Canadian Winner, with more than 600 tons of general cargo for discharge at this port, will dock at the Rithet Consolidated piers this evening about 10 o'clock. This is one of the largest boats for a long time. The Winner will be here several hours before proceeding to Vancouver and other mainland ports.

The steamer. Passengers will land from the top deck and reach Wharf Street by the overhead walk formerly used by the Grand Trunk Pacific boats, entrance to which is gained by gates to the left of the Pacific Salvage Company's office on Wharf Street.

Motor cars will reach the street by the same roadway now used by motor cars from the Puget Sound ferry steamer Olympic. Ample room for the handling of baggage and for the customs and immigration authorities is being provided in a shed at the Wharf Street end of the dock.

The Alxons S. S. Co., 21st United Church, will hold a Garden Party on Saturday afternoon, June 23, at the home of Mrs. P. C. Dillabough, 3010 Quadra Street. Everybody welcome.

Ferry Companies Boost Victoria

City Is Extensively Advertised in Papers of Sound City as an Ideal Place to Spend the Week-end; Beauty Spots Are Enumerated in Advertisements

Besides giving Victorians an additional service to Seattle, the newly inaugurated Victoria-Edmonds Ferry Company of Seattle is causing a good deal of publicity to be given to this city in the way of age and half page advertisements in both the Seattle papers, The Times and The Post-Intelligencer.

All the steamship companies operating vessels to this port are doing their utmost to boost Victoria as an ideal place to spend a week-end. "A week-end in Canada," as one company ad-vertises a trip to Victoria, deals with visits to Victoria's leading places of beauty, Butchart's Sunken Gardens, her golf courses, the Crystal Garden and the numerous scenic drives in and around the city, with side trips up the Island and along the Saanich Peninsula.

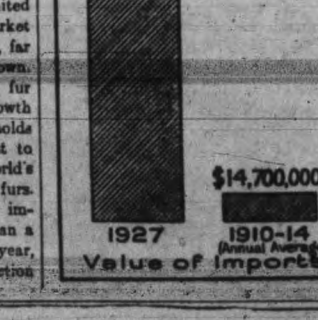

More tourists than ever are assured for Victoria this summer on account of the new ferry service which will give visitors a longer stay in this city. The Puget Sound Navigation Company has also reduced their rates on all their ferry routes operating to this island and on the Puget Sound, so as to get more motor travel routed through Victoria. Already these reduced fares are showing results and travel is much higher this year than it was at this time in 1927.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR EXPANSION OF CANADA'S FUR TRADE

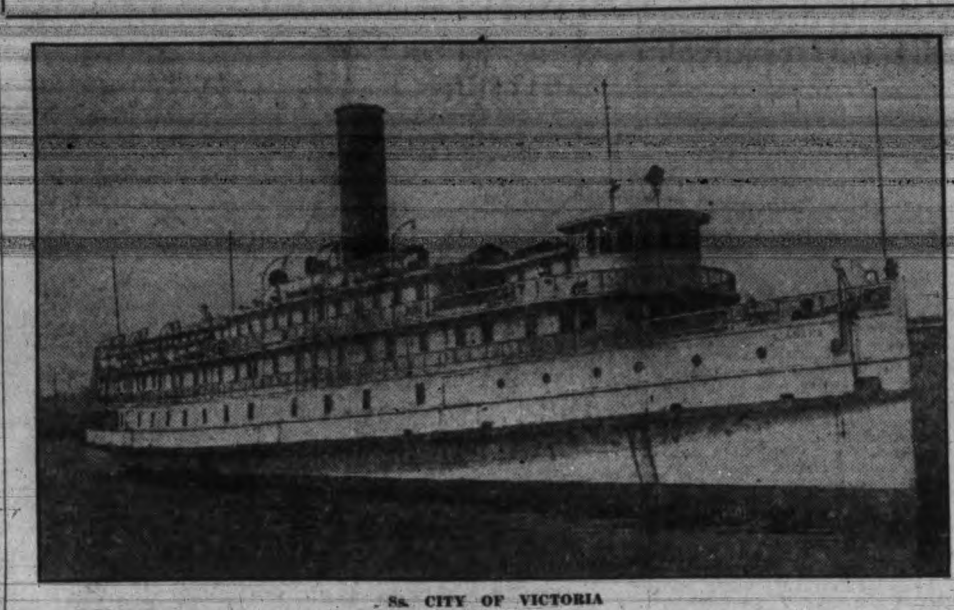

The recent development of world trade presents few features more remarkable than the rise in the fur imports of the United States. In pre-war days the States annually imported rather less than $15,000,000 worth of undressed fur. Last year the imports exceeded the huge sum of $123,000,000. Just as India has for many years shown an insatiable appetite for silver, so the United States appears to have become the great magnet for the world's furs of all kinds.

There is no doubt that the United States to-day comprises a fur market which, in extent and buying power, far surpasses anything previously known. And while this enormous modern fur business is due largely to the growth in the use of the cheaper fur, it holds at the same time a special interest to the Dominion as one of the world's chief producers of high quality furs. With a next-door market which is importing furs at the rate of more than a hundred million dollars worth a year, Canada's resources for fur production

Thousands of Square Miles Of Territory Are Covered by Canadian Far North Patrol

The 1928 Summer season will be one of great activity in the Northwest Territories of Canada, says the publication Natural Resources of Canada. In the vast regions "North of Sixty," administered by the Department of the Interior, exploratory and investigatory work will be continued during the summer. The members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed in the North will carry on overland patrols in their work of maintaining law and order.

Preparations are now under way in the Northwest Territories and Yukon branch for the annual trip of the St. Roch to the police posts in the interior. The ship will sail from the port of Montreal, Nova Scotia, on July 18. It is expected that the ports of call during the northward trip will be Godhavn, Greenland; Pond Inlet, Baffin Island; Dundas Harbor, Devon Island; and Craig Harbor and Bache Peninsula, Ellesmere Island. The return trip from Bache Peninsula, the farthest north post, will begin sometime in August. Circumstances will determine whether or not the expedition will sail to points in Hudson Strait farther west than Lake Harbour.

WORK AMONG NATURES

George P. Mackenzie will be the officer in charge and the chief navigating officer will be Captain E. Falk. Captain Morin will be ice pilot. Dr. Livingston will go north this year to Pangnirtung, where he will remain for a year carrying out medical patrols among the natives on Baffin Island. Inspector A. H. Joy and a number of members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will also accompany the expedition.

In the districts of Mackenzie and Keewatin many important investigations will be conducted. Major L. T. Burwash, exploratory engineer of the Northwest Territories and Yukon

P.G.E. DEAL TO BE COMPLETED SHORTLY, SUTHERLAND STATES

SUPPORTS P.G.E. PLANS

The Delta candidate touched very briefly on questions of policy of the MacLean Government. He explained the previous opposition to expenditures on Pacific Great Eastern extensions by saying he felt such expense was too much to place on the tax-paying shoulders of the taxpayers. Now, however, he said,

"The facts of progress contained in the booklet do not make the Opposition very happy." Dr. Sutherland observed. "It is not a fact that this private business hoping to succeed never neglects advertising? If advertising is good business for private business it is good business for the Government, which is conducting the biggest business in British Columbia. The books cost $3,000 and through their beneficial effect in the bond market will probably result in cutting at least one point from the cost of selling British Columbia securities."

ROAD WORK

Dr. Sutherland dealt briefly with the policy of the Department of Public Works in respect of roads and he emphatically denied insinuations of graft in connection with construction of the Cariboo Highway. The unit price system, followed by the Department, was the system adopted by all the provinces and every state in the Union across the border, he declared. The Palmer Company had been given the Cariboo contract because it had offered the lowest bid, he said. The company was paid on a basis of $2 a yard of material and it had given out the work to station men for eighty cents a yard. Crises had been met at the spread, he said, but they overlooked the fact that the Palmer firm had to pay as high as $6.70 a yard on some of the work done. The contractor had also made expenses out of the $1.20, including, as an example, replacement of fifteen tons of steel rails which had been damaged by blasting operations.

NO APOLOGIES

"If the Tories tell all the facts, the whole truth about the Cariboo road, there is nothing to be ashamed of. I have nothing to apologize for in connection with the Cariboo Road," Dr. Sutherland added.

The minister said that letting of the contract for a road running from Sardis to the Vedder Canal would be announced within a few days. Extensive road work would also be done in the Sumas prairie region and in other parts of the Fraser Valley, he added.

Return to the near future of the Railway Block and Peace River roads to the Province was forecast by Dr. Sutherland, who said the completion of the transfer with the Federal Government to Premier MacLean and Hon. A. M. Manson.

DEAL SOON

Respecting the P.G.E. he declared no doubt existed as to the future of the road. It would be taken over by the Canadian National Railways and the deal, he said, would be completed very shortly. The Province would not be called upon to lay out a dollar, he declared.

BARROW SPEAKS

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, made a brief explanation of the anti-dumping regulations as they affected British Columbia fruit growers. The Federal Government had not intended to open the Customs Tariff Act so that the anti-dumping regulations could be amended in a manner to afford protection to British Columbia producers, he said. The MacLean Government intended, however, he said, vigorously to press for the necessary changes and he expressed confidence that the Liberals again were given power by the people, equitable protection would rapidly be forthcoming.

DONAHY SPEAKS

Hon. Dugald Donahy, newly appointed Minister of Finance, declared that British Columbia's financial position had never been so sound as at present, and he quoted figures showing the extensive part played by the Liberal Government in bringing about the present state of affairs. Current expense of operating the Province for one year, he said, was $19,000,000. Of that amount all but $700,000 must be raised by the taxpayers of the Province.

Cost of operation was showing a marked decline, he said, in spite of increased prosperity, and at the same time, taxes were being substantially reduced. For the year ending March 31,

Festival Concert To Feature July 1

One of the outstanding events of the Dominion Day celebration will be the big festival concert at the Arena on Sunday, July 1.

The musical service is to be in the hands of the Victoria Musical Festival Association under Geo. Watson, president, and Frederick Waddington, conductor.

The Schubert Club, the First United Choir, the Victoria Male Chorus, and the Metropolitan Church Choir, have already promised their co-operation.

"All the church choirs and leaders of musical organizations have been written to, and asked to bring this matter before their choirs, and anyone who can sing is invited to help, provided they will attend the rehearsal, which are being held in the High School at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, June 19 and 20."

Mr. Watson said: "Music will be provided, but anyone having 'copies' is asked to bring them."

Arrangements are being made to have a band and community singing. The choir will be asked to sing: "The Heavens Are Telling" (Haydn), "O Gladsome Light" (Bullfinch), "Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel).

WINE IS ENEMY OF CANCER SAYS PAUL BALBAUD

Foreign Trade Adviser to French Government Here to Promote Economic Relations Carried Thanks of France to Canada For Assistance in War

"Drink more wine and be healthy," says M. Paul Balbaud, foreign trade adviser to the French Government, who arrived in Victoria yesterday from Paris on a trade mission, the object of which is to promote economic relations between France and Canada.

Wine, at least French wine, according to M. Balbaud, is the greatest enemy of stomach cancer and other growths.

For the whole of France, with a population of 39,000,000, the percentage of death rate attributed to cancer is 4.2 per cent, whereas in Canada, with a population of 9,000,000, the percentage of death rate attributed to cancer is 9.8 per cent, says M. Balbaud.

Thinks stomach cancer, which could never harbor the insidious growth, he claims.

No tuberculous microbe can live in a mixture of two-thirds water and one-third alcohol, and a healthy beverage for children in France.

The French trade envoy also maintains that wine is the greatest foe of intemperance and the greatest ally of temperance.

"It is the healthiest alcoholic stimulant that it is possible to obtain, and is full of medical qualities," said M. Balbaud in lauding the product of France's greatest industry.

He added that there were 1,600,000 wine growers in France, the most prolific wine producing departments being Bordeaux, Champagne, Burgundy, Anjou and the Rhone River.

"France's largest export is wine, and that is the only bulky product we have to send overseas in exchange for Canada's wheat, salmon, tin, mica and asbestos," stated M. Balbaud at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"France desires to market her wine more cheaply in Canada, and I hope to impress upon the Liquor Control Board of this country the importance of a reasonable margin of profit on the money would be made by the increased turnover and trade relations would be improved between the two countries."

FORMER PROFESSOR AT TORONTO UNIVERSITY

M. Balbaud visited this country in 1919 to carry the thanks of the French Government to Canada for her aid during the Great War.

Before the war he was a professor at the University and was a close friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

TO ENTERTAIN U.S. BARRISTERS

Seattle Bar Association Arranges Victoria Visit of Eastern Lawyers

Proposals for entertainment in Victoria of large parties of the American Bar Association in July, when that body celebrates its fifty anniversary at Seattle, were to-day outlined to the Victoria Bar Association at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce by C. M. Hadley and M. R. McKelvie of the Seattle Bar Association.

A party of from 500 to 800 barristers from Eastern cities will visit Victoria on Monday, July 23, and a second party will arrive on Saturday, July 28.

Mr. Hadley said the first party will lunch in Victoria, arriving at 12:15 and leave at 5 o'clock, the regular steamer schedule, and will gain the additional time.

It is possible that so many will desire to visit Victoria that special steamers will be chartered.

Mr. McKelvie reviewed the programme of the convention, which will include an analysis of the constitution of the Irish Free State, a paper on the signing of Magna Charta and an address by Justice Harlan, one of the U.S. Supreme Court. He believed that the programme would be of interest to the visitors.

D. Macfarlane, president of the Victoria Bar Association, suggested that the visitors take luncheon at the Empress Hotel and that a three-hour business trip should be made to Butchart's Garden, the Observatory and Hatley Park.

OLD BUILDING TO BE MOVED

Temporary Structure to Be Taken From Parliament Buildings Grounds

Grounds of the Parliament Buildings will be improved in appearance through the immediate removal of one of the temporary structures now standing on the grounds. The building, which is a relic of the old printing bureau and near the Provincial Police headquarters, formerly the Drill Hall. Its removal will make possible the development of the grounds fronting on Menzies Street and will remove an eyesore much in evidence from the whole western wing of the grounds.

Under plans approved by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, the building will be moved to the Wilson Road Mental Home, where it will be used as a temporary structure.

Constructed of corrugated iron, it will form a useful structure there.

These changes are made possible by the construction of the new printing bureau at the corner of Government and Superior Streets and the removal of the King's Printer and his staff from their former quarters. These are being transferred to the new building.

The removal of the building will be used for the purpose of relieving congestion in other parts of the buildings.

SEND AGENT TO BRITAIN

Vernon, B.C., June 15.—G. A. Barrat will be the British Columbia Associated Growers' representative in Great Britain during the months when the crop is on the market. Appointment was made at the annual meeting of the directors here. The question of the removal of the head office to Kelowna was set over until the December meeting. The Vernon Board of Trade's fight for equalization of freight rates was endorsed. It was decided voluntarily to wind up the Growers' Packing House Limited, and to have the Associated Growers assume the assets and liabilities, in order to save costs incidental to keeping two companies going.

Science has never devised a surer method of securing complete laxative action than the chewing of "Feen-a-mint."

As you chew one of these dainty, mint-flavored tablets, the tasteless, non-habit-forming laxative principle in "Feen-a-mint"—phenolphthalein (yellow)—is thoroughly mixed with the saliva before it reaches the stomach.

It is thus readily diffused throughout the intestinal tract and, without any shock or after effect, clears the system of poisons.

Those who adopt this new method of ending internal inactivity enjoy better health and the beauty that comes therefrom.

"Feen-a-mint" may be had at all drugstores, who appreciate its reliable, scientific action.

STOCK MARKETS FINANCIAL NEWS GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, June 15.—The wheat market was very erratic again to-day, at times showing wide and rapid fluctuations in both directions, but prices were mostly lower, with the old crop month again showing relative weakness. Trade was of a mixed character. Offerings were liberal on the bulge, but because some of the trucks which probably accounted for the easy upturns as shorts were taking profits.

Overnight export business was reported as being very small and disappointing, being confined to a few odd loads, although seaboard reported a good inquiry. There was not much business going on in the cash market, but because some of the trucks which probably accounted for the easy upturns as shorts were taking profits.

There was a fair demand for the lower grades but these are scarce and difficult to buy. The demand for No. 3 Northern which now comprises the bulk of our surplus continues extremely slow, which makes the cash situation look very heavy. There was very little change in spreads.

There is 38,000,000 bushels of No. 3 tough No. 3 Northern in elevators at the head of the Lakes as well as generous quantities in other positions. Weather in Western Canada is very favorable, with scattered showers again received in all three provinces, and more forecasted, while temperatures are cool. There are a few complaints coming out of the west stating that the crop is not sooting well and more rains are needed. This may pertain to a few districts but generally the whole West has had good precipitation the past week. Farmers continue to market in surprisingly large volume.

There is little doubt that the strength in Chicago is helping this market from declining further.

Coarse grains.—These markets were all easier to-day with a very light trade passing. There were reports of export business in oats but it did not show here, as there was little demand for anything. Oats closed 1 1/2 lower in all months; barley 1/2 to 1/4 lower, and rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

Plat.—Dull, featureless market. A little scattered liquidation by the buyers of yesterday. Crushers showing very little interest.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, June 15 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

"I do not believe that any true secondary reaction will be encountered this week but expect the market to recapture more than the ordinary fifty per cent of the initial decline, a development which will further substantiate the contention that no bear movement is in the making."

"Steel should be bought around 140 for an ultimate objective of approximately 180 to 185, American Smelting around 190 for an objective somewhere within the busy range of 225 to 250, a range of 85-90 can be used for the purchase of American Can in the quiet confident expectation that the stock will sell materially above 100. So many stocks are in a buying range at the present time that it is almost impossible to name them."

"The Leather 'A' which will be one of the 44 payers before the year is out, will, in the near future, provide a yield of close to 7 per cent if purchased at current levels, with earnings five times the dividend. B.M.T. is likewise available on 6 per cent basis. I do not know the reason, but in the past three days the calibre of the buying in Mack Truck has been the best in almost two years."

"Brokers' loans declined to the extent of the average estimate."

New York, June 15 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)—Stockbrokers' opinions to-day are:

Hornblower & Weeks—People who may have wanted to sell but carried stocks down through the reaction might do well to place their accounts in a satisfactory position, in anticipation of the possibility of further reactionary movements when the present rally has run its course.

The capital will be written down by $18,750,000, representing losses incurred by the closing down of unprofitable branches and reduction in the valuation of certain properties which are being retained. The whole debt and share capital is to be overhauled and the creditors will be secured.

Book of Knowledge

Sketches by Bessey.
Synopsis by Brancher.

THE CROW

The crow, with its raucous call and preying habits, has been looked upon with scorn and hate by many. But the crow family comes at the head of all winged creatures. Crows are highest of all birds in mental development; they are the philosophers of the bird tribe. Wise crows have even learned to know that scarecrows cannot hurt them.

By NEA, through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

We cannot call a bird of paradise a crow, but the bird of paradise really is only a glorified crow.

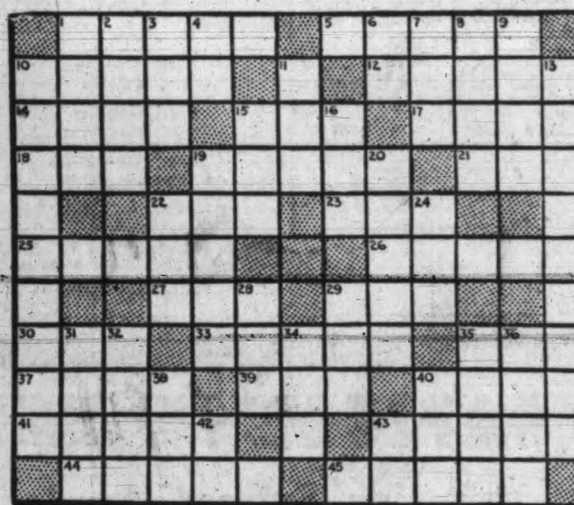

Foremost in the ranks of the crows comes the raven. The raven is the largest in the family, measuring 25 inches from beak to tail.

A weak lamb or stricken rabbit has reason to know the meaning of a raven's approach. Where a wounded animal escapes hunters to die alone, the sable bird follows. In the icy north the raven eludes the paw of the polar bear as it makes a meal on a dead seal or shark; in South America it plays jackal to the jaguar.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1928

Benefic stars dominate to-day, according to astrology which finds kindly planetary influences prevalent.

It is a day most favorable to intellectual activity and read as propitious for speeches, orations and addresses of every sort.

Political matters are well directed while this configuration prevails, although much criticism of personalities may be expected.

Ridicule is to be a weapon more often employed in the national campaign than is usual even in hard-fought contests, it is foretold.

Again the seers call attention to the influence of Neptune and remind those less wise that this planet's influence will be strong.

Newspapers are subject to the most favorable way and they will reap much profit this month, it is forecast.

This is held to be an unlucky rule for signing contracts or reaching agreements of any sort. Delays should be profitable.

Financiers will benefit from a world event, if the astrologers are to be believed.

A scandalous book or pamphlet that will arouse public feeling is foretold as an outcome of political antagonisms.

All the signs appear to presage coordination of big enterprises that are to benefit the West as well as the East.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the urgency of a fairly happy year in which they may take a journey.

Children born on this day probably will have a gift for writing. Many journalists are born under this sign. (Copyright, 1928)

It costs money to carry a big stock of balloon tires. And there are so many sizes. If a tire merchant tries to carry two or three brands of tires, he can't carry all balloon sizes of each. He can't give service to all his customers. We specialize on Goodyears. We only need carry one brand. That helps keep our prices down. And we can always give you your size—always give you Goodyear quality and value. Goodyear prices are low right now.

The association has decided to hold a basket picnic at Butchart's Gardens on Saturday, June 16. The Rev. T. Hughes was appointed chairman of the transportation committee and anyone wishing to attend the picnic and desiring transportation is asked to communicate with him. The parties will leave Sidney at 4 p.m. and meet at the gardens at 5 p.m. The association has also decided to hold a garden competition in connection with the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society and anyone wishing to enter their gardens in the competition are asked to send their names to Mrs. Hammond. The judges appointed by the association will select the best three, and the three gardens so selected will compete with the other district gardens on Vancouver Island for the three challenge cups presented by the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society.

Mrs. J. P. Mair, who has resided in this district for many years, spent a day in Sidney during the week, bidding farewell to her many friends before departing for England. Mrs. Mair will be joined by her son "Jock," who has been for the last three years assistant manager of one of the largest coffee estates in Kenya, British East Africa, and who will spend six months' vacation in England, after which Mrs. Mair will return to Kenya with her son, where she will in future reside.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church of Sidney was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lowe's, Patricia Bay.

The president, Mrs. Simister, occupied the chair.

It was decided that on July 4 a combined meeting and picnic would be held, through the invitation of Mrs. J. T. Taylor, at her home in Victoria. It was also decided to hold a street festival on Monday, June 25, on the lawn of Mrs. J. P. Simister, who has kindly loaned her grounds for this purpose. Committees were then appointed. Mrs.

The nominations must be in writing and must be sent to the contest committee, Room 10, McGregor Block, View Street, Victoria, by the above date.

Office Proves Costly for Politicians

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, June 15.—Premier Baldwin's statement at Manchester that most of his private fortune, invested in the steel industry, is now less than a twelfth of what it was when he entered office, must have surprised most people.

The Prime Minister said that the appalling depreciation had taken place since he had taken office. But had he devoted the same energy to business as he has to politics the position might have been better. Mr. McKenna, Sir Robert Horne, Sir Eric Geddes, Mr. Kellaway and other politicians who have given up politics for business are doing well.

Politicians generally, and Premiers in particular, find political service anything but profitable. Walpole, though not a person of political purity and having colossal party funds at his personal disposal, died a poor man.

"His debts," according to Horace Walpole, "with his legacies, which are trifling, amount to £50,000; his estate, a nominal £8,000 a year, much mortgaged."

Walpole was in office for twenty-one years, and was the greatest commercial minister this country had then ever seen. He was accused of peculation, but Morley finally disposed of that charge.

The Duke of Newcastle when he entered office had a private income from land of £25,000 a year, and when he left it was less than one-fourth, and that despite the salaries he received. When the King proposed to give him a generous pension, he replied: "If I cannot be allowed to serve my country I am resolved not to be a burden to it."

Mr. Baldwin's sacrifice, some of which are involuntary (the losses due to the slump in the steel trade) and some of which are voluntary (the cancellation of £120,000 war bonds), are in harmony with the best traditions of his office.

The Time—Saturday afternoon, June 23. The Place—3010 Quadra Street. What? A Garden Party under the auspices of the Axioma S. S. Club, First United Church. Come and enjoy a pleasant afternoon.

JOINT-EASE For Stiff, Swollen Joints

Rheumatic or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in—Joint Agony Gets Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed joints.

And it was his name man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacies to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember: Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at MacFarlane's Drug Co., and drugists everywhere for 50 cents a tube.

AT THE THEATRES

The British production playing at the Coliseum Theatre this week is taking the thoughts of many of the English patrons back to dear old London, for there are many scenes in the picture, taken right in the city of London, showing the Nelson monument, the Parliament Buildings, the Strand, etc. The film is the "Land of Hope and Glory" taken from Sir Edward Elgar's anthem of Empire. Ellaline Terriss (Mrs. Seymour Hicks) plays one of the leading roles—a mother part which she plays so well—and is ably supported by Lynn Harding and a soprano soloist, in song selections. Harold Bechtel, the singing announcer, along with the concert orchestra, round out the bill.

LILLIPUT LAND RECALLED IN FILM NOW AT VARIETY

One sequence in which all of the characters appear as tiny beings, dwarfed by chairs and heavy-laden tables is enough to make "World's Clothing" worth seeing. Original camera work has made this incident stand out as one of the most amusing of the year. When Montie Blue clambers up to the key in the door and swings there, the effect is more exciting than if he were hanging perilously from the top rafters of a huge building.

But this incident is only one in a series of shots that make "World's Clothing" top-notch entertainment. The story, Arthur Somers Roche, tells of a subway guard who lands in the clothing of a man-about-town at a wild New Year's Eve revel. The subway guard (Montie Blue) meets a girl (Fatsy Ruth Miller) and they are whirled together into a gay sweep of melodramatic fun.

The picture was directed by Roy Del Ruth, and is showing to-day at the Variety Theatre.

DOLORES DEL RIO SPANISH BELLE IN DOMINION FILM

Careful selection is apparent in the long list of brilliant screen luminaries portraying the principal roles in "Love of Carmen," Fox Film's screen adaptation of the widely known opera, "Carmen," produced under the direction of Raoul Walsh, maker of "What Price Glory," now at the Dominion Theatre.

Heading the cast is Victor McLaglen, whose recent characterization of Captain Plagg firmly established him as one of the most talented players appearing before the camera. In this picture the stalwart actor portrays the role of Escamille.

In the pivotal feminine role is Dolores Del Rio, who likewise, won admirers because of her portrayal of Charmaine in "What Price Glory." Miss Del Rio is seen as Carmen, a role which fits her fiery temperament.

Don Jose is characterized by Don Alvarado, a young screen player who has risen to the front ranks with rapidity. Alvarado's Spanish ancestry coincides with the screen role.

Nancy Nash, who plays Michaela has been featured in Fox features, and is recognized as one of film's shining lights. Ben Hecht, Maurice Chevalier, Jack Baustian and Ralph Sipperly are other established players who portray important roles in the picture.

TAXI DRIVER GOT CHANCE IN MOVIES AND MADE IT GOOD

Jack Pennick, who has an important role in "The Lone Eagle," a Universal-Pict production, featuring Raymond Keane and Barbara Kent, which is showing at the Columbia Theatre to-day, got into movies by accident.

He was driving an ambulance in the city of Portland and was perfectly happy. While on a short vacation in Los Angeles he was offered an extra job in a war scene and accepted as a lark. So well did he screen that he was given a contract and has been in pictures ever since.

"LES MISERABLES" IS HEADLINER AT CAPITOL THEATRE

The filming of the first part of "Les Miserables," the Universal-Pict de France production, which shows at the Capitol Theatre, took place in the South of France, in the region between Grasse and Nice. Henri Fescourt took his company as far as Digne, the town in which Mgr. Myriel is described as having lived. The district is remarkable for its beauty and picturesque quality as will be seen in the film, and everywhere the company received the greatest possible assistance both from the Mayor and members of the Town Council, as well as from the inhabitants.

Everywhere they aroused the liveliest interest, and popular excitement sometimes got so much the better of the crowds that in a scene which was pure 1830, a 1925 dress would suddenly intrude. Gabriel, who speedily became a favorite, was known as "M. Valjean," and even at a word when he went to smoke a cigarette on the village green, his footsteps were invariably dogged by admiring crowds. But if the public were sometimes unconsciously troublesome—and who would not excuse their curiosity?—they were exceedingly kind. During the filming at St. Paul, for instance, where the heat was intense, the people kept bringing food (lemons) to the company.

Once Gabriel overheard a remark made by two country people, one of whom was asking the other, who was the leading actor in the film. Pointing to Gabriel in his scanty convict attire, the one said to the other: "Do you think it can be he?" "Impossible!" came the quick reply. "Why, he's dressed only in rags."

On the stage this week there are the Cook Sisters, stars of the big Fanchon & Marco "Russian Revue" innovation. These artists can sing, dance, and are

COLISEUM BOOKS OUTSTANDING FILM

All the glamour and color of the throbbing East sweeps through spazing British production of Matheson Lang's "The Chinese Bungalow" which comes to the Coliseum Theatre next week for a run of six days. Matheson Lang achieves his greatest success as the sinister Chinese Mandarin. He gives a masterly exhibition of acting in a strange thrilling drama, "The Chinese Bungalow" is a colorful production with all the allure of the Orient. Matheson Lang—as Yuan King, is a nighty character—this Chinese Mandarin, wise in the power knowledge and wisdom of ages in Chinese lore, and in the wisdom of English colleges; a grim Nemesis pursuing with a great love held only by a strange sacred oath Matheson Lang gave the world the character on the stage—but on the screen he goes even farther in his delineation. He seems the living embodiment of the whole mysterious Orient.

BEAUTIFUL GIRLS BAND APPEARS AT CAPITOL MONDAY

That glorified bevy of pulchritude called "The Ingenues," a dainty, flashing, dazzling organization of musicians, who were such a sensation in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1927, are to appear at the Capitol next week. These girls were featured by Florenz Ziegfeld as the flash climax to his brilliant first act of the 1927 "Follies," and since then they have become the talk of the country. Twenty of them will be here for one week, commencing Monday.

This act will be presented with all the novelties, costumes, scenery and music and lighting effects as used in the original "Follies" production in New York. Twenty beauties, each a talented dancer and singer, in addition to being able to play three to five different instruments equally well, describes this wonderful aggregation of musicians. The appearance of the "Ingenues" at the Capitol Theatre next week is another example that the Capitol Theatre books only the best of stage attractions for their patrons. On the screen Richard Dix in his latest comedy romance, "Easy Come, Easy Go," will be the feature attraction.
